

2010 Annual Report

Our Vision

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation values integrity, stewardship and collaboration.

We strive to be enlightened leaders with a long-term perspective of community issues and opportunities, and we encourage and assist donors' philanthropy for the benefit of the community.

Dear Donors and Friends:

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation values integrity, stewardship and collaboration. We strive to be enlightened leaders with a long-term perspective of community issues and opportunities, and we encourage and assist donors' philanthropy for the benefit of the community.

The last task of the 2009 Long Range Plan process was to write a new vision statement for the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. The statement above (and also on page 1) was adopted by the Trustees in February 2010. Throughout this annual report and in additional materials that you receive from us, you will see this theme of leadership with a long-term perspective. The endowment resources that we have been fortunate to develop through the years provide an opportunity to stay with community issues for as long as needed to make a difference. As long-term stewards of donors' endowment gifts, we work to ensure that the donors' intent is both respected and relevant.

Education at all levels is of major importance in our country and in our state. Through our scholarship programs, counselor training workshops and literacy promotion efforts, we are making a significant contribution to increasing the capacity of individuals to improve themselves and become independent and productive citizens. For many who did not learn to read in school, this effort is a challenge but one worth pursuing for the lifetime benefits that can result.

Across the country, charities are working in areas that improve people's lives in many ways. Our Charitable Organization Endowment Program that we've operated since 1970 provides significant long-term support to 300 charitable organizations. This support comes to them every year from the distributions on endowment funds contributed by thousands of donors. Maintaining the charitable infrastructure by promoting endowment giving is a cornerstone of this organization.

No area requires patience more than the beautification and preservation of our parks and public lands. While we have provided both support and expertise in the community for a number of years, in fiscal year 2010 we initiated a study of the park resources in Oklahoma City. It is our hope that the study's findings will affirm the wonderful park resources that we have in this community and outline the opportunities that we have to increase the benefit that they provide.

None of these efforts and other initiatives would be possible without the support and interest of many donors. We thank you for all you do and hope that we can continue to be good stewards of your gifts.

Our Mission Statement

The mission of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, a nonprofit public charity, is to serve the charitable purposes of its donors and the charitable needs of the Oklahoma City area through the development and administration of endowment and other charitable funds with the goal of preserving capital and enhancing value.

Kids Café

The Kids Café at the Britton Christian Church in Oklahoma City serves students from Britton Elementary School. The site is one of 16 supported by the Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma. Through the afterschool program, students receive food, mentoring and tutoring. Dilip and Vibha Patel support the activities of the Food Bank through their advised fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation.

Dilip and Vibha Patel

Helping Those Less Fortunate

As children growing up in India, both Dilip Patel and his wife, Vibha, witnessed their parents helping those less fortunate and treating others in a manner they'd liked to be treated.

Now citizens of the United States, the Patels are applying their parents' philosophy through grants they recommend from an advised fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. In addition to their fund, the couple has also established several charitable gift annuities. Dilip says their approach to charitable giving is driven by two strong beliefs.

"To help young people get a good education so they can improve their lives and help others in the future," he explains. "And, we want to help people in our community or anywhere who are less fortunate than us due to various circumstances."

Education is very important to the couple. Dilip has an undergraduate degree in electrical engineering and a master's degree in mechanical engineering while Vibha has her Ph.D. in mathematics. "Good education and hard work is the key to success," Dilip says. In the spring of 2010, the couple funded a scholarship for a foster care child through the Oklahoma Youth With Promise program.

Since retiring from Seagate in 2000 as a senior vice president, Dilip says they have grown increasingly appreciative of their good fortunes and believes it's important to share with others.

"We have traveled around the world and we feel very fortunate to live in the greatest country in the world and have all the opportunities we've had," he adds.

Since creating their fund, the Patels have recommended grants to nonprofits such as the Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma. One of the organization's programs is Kids Café, an afterschool and summer program that provides food, mentoring, tutoring and activities to at-risk children at 16 sites in central and western Oklahoma. For one Kids Café location, the food provided by the Food Bank is making a real difference in the study habits of the children, says Alyson Geister, volunteer director at Britton Christian Church in Oklahoma City. Prior to their tutoring, the children receive a filling, nutritious meal that helps them concentrate better on their lessons.

"All of the children arrive hungry in the afternoon," she explains. "For many, the meal they receive through the Kids Café is the only meal they'll eat for the rest of the day. We couldn't have a successful tutoring program if we didn't provide a meal."

Leadership Oklahoma City

Leadership Oklahoma City

Richard and Gayle Parry enjoy supporting the activities of Leadership Oklahoma City including LOYAL, a community service program for young adults, through gifts to the organization's endowment fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. In the photo with the Parrys are recent LOYAL graduates Amy Mitchell (seated), Ike Akinwande (kneeling) and Kelsey Karper.

Richard and Gayle Parry

Helping Shape Young Leaders

As an investment professional, it comes as no surprise that Richard Parry along with his wife Gayle like the idea of giving to charitable organization endowments at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation.

“We like the idea of making gifts that have the ‘perpetuity/compound growth’ investment affect,” explains Richard, who is the president and chief investment officer of Tom Johnson Investment Management LLC. Gayle, who is self employed, worked at Local Federal Bank for more than 20 years. The couple has two children, Kristi and Michael.

Richard and Gayle made their first gift in 1999 to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to benefit the Oklahoma Shakespeare in the Park endowment fund. Since that time, they have been continual donors to a variety of charitable organization endowments such as the Oklahoma City Museum of Art, Positive Tomorrows and the Jesus House to name a few.

“The number of nonprofits with endowments at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation allows us to address a number of interests with one check,” says Gayle. “This is really useful for budget and time considerations.”

Foremost among the Parrys’ charitable giving is supporting organizations that they believe are important investments for the community’s future and that have made or are making a difference for both their family and others. One of these nonprofit groups that fits the Parrys’ criteria is Leadership Oklahoma City and its LOYAL Program, a community service program for young adults.

“We like the idea of making gifts that have the ‘perpetuity/compound growth’ investment affect.”

Beth Shortt, executive director of Leadership Oklahoma City, says the Parrys’ support of the LOYAL Program has a real impact on the community.

“When Richard heard that we were considering creating a program for young adults, he fired off an e-mail with a dozen great suggestions,” says Beth. “Then he agreed to serve on the steering committee to plan the program and also served as inaugural program co-chair for two classes. He is truly one of the founders of the now very successful LOYAL Program.

“Like the proverbial pebble in the pond, Richard’s involvement in LOYAL has created positive change far beyond its direct impact,” she adds. “The young adults who complete LOYAL emerge as committed, motivated community volunteers and central Oklahoma benefits from their engagement in the community in ways we cannot begin to count.”

Bishop McGuinness Catholic High School

Tom and Judy Love are joined by two of their four children, Jenny Love Meyer and Greg Love, and granddaughter Liza Cameron in the McCarthy Gymnasium on the school's campus. The Love family is a longtime supporter of the school. Recently, Greg served as co-chair of the rebuilding campaign for the gymnasium that is now named for Judy's father, Edmund McCarthy.

Tom and Judy Love

Fulfilling Charitable Goals

For Tom and Judy Love, their road to becoming effective philanthropists began in 1964 when they leased an abandoned filling station in Watonga, Okla.

From this stark beginning their family-owned and operated company, Love's Travel Stops & Country Stores, has grown to include more than 260 locations along interstates and highways in 39 states and is one of the country's top privately-owned companies. It is thanks to this success that the Love family has in turn made a real impact on the community through their philanthropy.

"Charitable giving is important to us because we have been so blessed that we feel it is very important to share with others," explains Judy.

In 1999, the couple established the Love Family Affiliated Fund. In recent years, the family has directed a number of their Love's Travel Stops & Country Stores locations to their fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. The monthly lease income from each location generates cash that is used for charitable distributions from the Love Family Affiliated Fund.

"The Oklahoma City Community Foundation has done an impeccable job in helping us fulfill many of our charitable endeavors," Judy adds.

"The Loves' generosity extends to their church, their employees and their community in ways that truly make a difference," says Nancy B. Anthony, executive director. "Oklahoma City is fortunate to have such a philanthropic family."

"Charitable giving is important to us because we have been so blessed that we feel it is very important to share with others."

Through the fund, the Love family recommends grants to a variety of nonprofits including faith-based institutions such as Bishop McGuinness Catholic High School. The ties between the school and the Love family run deep. Judy graduated from what was then known as Catholic High School in 1955. The couple's four children – Greg, Laura, Jenny and Frank – are all graduates and four grandchildren are either currently attending or recently graduated. In 2004, Judy was named the Bishop McGuinness High Catholic School Graduate of the Year and in 2010 the renovated gymnasium was named in memory of Judy's father, Edmund McCarthy.

David Morton, the school's principal, credits the Love family with making a real difference especially during the recent rebuilding campaign.

"Along with their children, Tom and Judy have been instrumental not only with their monetary gifts but also by taking active roles in each of our major fundraising campaigns," he said. "Beyond all this, it is the family's sincere commitment to their faith and Catholic education that is the true gift to our community."

Types of Funds We Offer:

Affiliated Funds are 509(a)(3) supporting organizations and offer the type of donor involvement available through a private foundation but without any of the administrative burden. This is a very cost-effective option for any family or individual considering a private foundation.

Advised Funds make charitable giving simple and flexible. An Express Fund can be started for $1,000 while Gift and Legacy Funds require a minimum gift of $10,000.

Charitable Organization Endowment (COE) Funds are created to benefit a specific nonprofit organization. For a list of the 300 COE funds we currently administer, please see pages 34-41.

Scholarship and Award Funds are an option for donors interested in rewarding worthy students. For a list of Scholarship and Award Funds, please see pages 44-45.

Field of Interest Funds allow donors to establish an endowment that benefits an area of charitable need and allow our Trustees to administer the fund accordingly. Field of Interest Funds are listed on pages 42-43.

The Fund for Oklahoma City is an unrestricted endowment that serves as the primary funding source for our Community Programs and is also used by the Trustees to support new programs and services that meet the changing needs of the community. Please see pages 49-54 for more information on our Community Programs.

Types of Gifts We Accept:

To make charitable giving as easy and flexible as possible, we accept a wide variety of assets. Regardless of the type of gift, because we are a 501(c)(3) public charity, contributions to us qualify for the maximum deductibility for income, gift and estate tax purposes.

Cash Gifts can be in the form of cash, check, money order or cashier's check.

Credit Cards we accept via our secure online giving website are American Express, MasterCard and Visa.

Real Estate may be given at appraised value. If appreciated, capital gains tax may be avoided on the real estate.

Business-Related Assets such as closely held C-corp. and S-corp. stock, partnerships and LLCs can be used to make a charitable gift.

Stocks, Bonds and Mutual Funds, if appreciated, can offer you significant tax savings while maximizing their charitable contributions. We have accounts at most brokerage firms and can arrange for the transfer of the donated securities.

Oil and Gas Interests & Royalty Interests may allow for the preservation of liquid assets while maximizing the charitable contributions.

A Life Insurance Policy can be an effective means to fund a charitable giving plan without significant outlays of cash. If the policy is gifted, you receive a tax deduction for the current cash value and future premiums could be funded with additional tax deductible contributions.

Giving Later Through A Planned Gift

A planned or deferred gift is a charitable gift made as part of a donor's tax or estate plan that provides the donor a partial tax deduction for the gift and an income stream for a set time or life. We can facilitate the options outlined below. We encourage anyone considering a planned gift to discuss this option with their professional advisor. For more information, please contact Joe Carter at 405/606-2914 or j.carter@occf.org.

Charitable Gift Annuities (CGA) are available for individual(s) 55 years or older who want to make a gift with cash or other assets of at least $20,000, receive income for life and, at the end of the annuity, have the remaining assets go to the charitable fund of their choosing. We offer six CGA options.

Charitable Remainder Trusts provide annual income to the donor or a beneficiary(ies) for life or a term of years. In addition, the trust is removed from the estate possibly reducing subsequent estate taxes. Upon the trust's termination, the remaining assets will benefit an existing endowment or advised fund.

Charitable Lead Trusts provides income for a period of years to an endowment fund designated by the donor. At the end of the trust term, the remaining assets can be passed on to the donor or designated beneficiaries.

Retirement Plan Assets can be used to maximize charitable contributions by establishing an Advised Fund. Your heirs can serve as advisors to the fund, ensuring that your charitable interests are continued into the future.

Bequests allow you to designate a percentage, the residual or the entire estate to benefit an existing fund or to establish a new fund.

Through a bequest in his estate, a portion of his private foundation was transferred to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation through which annual grants are made to support charitable organizations including the public library in his hometown of Kingfisher.

Joan Kirkpatrick

Joan Kirkpatrick was a witty, stylish, understated and courageous woman. She was also a very effective philanthropist.

The only child of John and Eleanor Kirkpatrick, founders of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Joan learned early the importance of giving back to her community. She took particular pride in her volunteer work and board service with organizations such as St. Anthony Bone & Joint Hospital, the Oklahoma City Zoo, Free to Live, the Oklahoma Nature Conservancy and the Oklahoma City Museum of Art where she also served on the collections committee. During the museum's capital campaign to fund a new location, Joan convinced her father to match her gift which resulted in the most significant gift to the campaign. The gift was made in honor of Eleanor Kirkpatrick.

As chairman of the Kirkpatrick Foundation, a private foundation founded by her parents in 1955, Joan began to focus the foundation's resources on areas for which she had a special interest such as animal welfare and the environment. The Kirkpatrick Family Fund honored Joan's longtime support for the veterinary sciences with a gift to fund the Joan Kirkpatrick Chair in Small Animal Internal Medicine at the Oklahoma State University Center for Veterinary Health Sciences.

Prior to her death in August of 2009, Joan established endowment funds to benefit her favorite animal welfare organizations.

Leigh Ann graduated from the College of Nursing at the University of Oklahoma in 1978 and was active in nursing in Oklahoma City until 1995 when she and Paul were married. Paul's company was acquired by a large defense contractor in late 2006. The couple established the Albers Family Affiliated Fund to support organizations and causes important to their family. The first grant from the fund established the Donald Albers M.D. Endowed Chair at the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine, Department of Urology, to honor and recognize Paul's father. Variety Care

Variety Care developed in 2009 following a merger between Oklahoma Community Health Services and Variety Health Center, two nonprofit organizations that served low-income families by providing accessible and affordable health care.

Prior to the merger, the history of both organizations have paralleled and intersected for many years. Today, Variety Care provides a broad range of primary and preventive health care services at affordable rates at its seven locations in central and southwestern Oklahoma. The organization expects to serve 50,000 patients in 2010. Several Family Affiliated Funds recommended grants in fiscal year 2010 to benefit Variety Care including the Albers Family Affiliated Funds. In 2009, Leigh Ann Albers toured Variety Care's Lafayette facility.

“I was so impressed that I asked my husband Paul and his sister, who is a nurse midwife and a professor at the University of New Mexico, to take the tour,” she explains. “As a registered nurse, I believe that providing accessible and affordable health care to low-income families is essential and potentially life changing. Paul and I have chosen to support Variety Care because the impact that it has had on our community is enormous!”

So when the couple talks about enriching the social, cultural and educational opportunities for their neighbors, they think on a global level. Through their fund, the couple recommends grants to support a wide variety of projects and programs. They are ardent supporters of the Oklahoma City-based World Neighbors, an organization that educates citizens of developing countries around the world on how to become self-sufficient and improve their lives as well as women's rights groups in third world countries. Local grants help support animal rescue organizations, educational institutions, the Oklahoma City Philharmonic, the Oklahoma City Zoological Society, and other charitable and civic organizations. "Our fund gives us so much pleasure," Claudia explains. "We are able to focus on supporting the groups we want without having to worry about the administrative details. It really is a simple and easy way to make a visible impact on the causes about which you are passionate."

Caddo Kiowa Technology Center FIRST Robotics Team

A grant awarded in 2010 from the Rural Oklahoma Community Foundation endowment helped a high school team take part in a robotics competition. Not only did the Caddo Kiowa Technology Center's Pre-Engineering Robotics team compete but they finished fourth out of 55 teams from Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas and Missouri and were the highest ranked team from the state. The For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology (FIRST) Robotics Competition required teams to create a robot that could kick a soccer-style ball into a goal. Each team received a kit with motors, batteries, control system, personal computer and a selection of automation components but no instructions. The task required the students to first plan then build the robots. Students enrolled in construction, graphics, welding and auto service technology programs helped to plan and build the robot. In the photograph with team members and the robot is Nancy Anthony, who serves as a trustee for the Rural Oklahoma Community Foundation.

Ernest Davis

While Ernest R. Davis may have spent the majority of his 76 years living near Guthrie, his compassion and philanthropic nature touched countless lives in not only Oklahoma but across the country.

Reared on a farm west of Guthrie and surrounded by a close-knit extended family, Ernest developed a lifelong devotion to agriculture. This devotion propelled him to volunteer his service for many agriculture-based organizations including the Governor's Board of Agriculture, the Oklahoma Youth Expo and the Oklahoma FFA Alumni Association. He and his wife Shirley together fanned the passion for agriculture in young people through their support and promotion of youth programs in both Oklahoma and on a national level.

As one of his sons said, Ernest "cared deeply about people, and gave generously of his time, talent and treasure to support the personal development of Oklahoma's youth."

Ernest also dedicated his time and energy for the good of the overall community and provided his leadership to civic organizations including the Guthrie Board of Education, Logan County Hospital Board of Directors, Meridian Technology Center and the Crescent Cooperative Association to name a few.

Never one to draw attention to himself, it was not surprising that Ernest asked to remain anonymous when making gifts through the family's fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. For him, it was more about impact than accolades. Ernest Davis died on April 25, 2010.

Donna Marie Theisen Haire

Donna Marie Theisen Haire spent her life caring for others. Born in 1934 in Columbus, Ohio, she attended nursing school in Columbus and became a registered nurse in 1957. During nursing school she married her high school sweetheart, William Haire, and they traveled the country over the next 23 years in pursuit of his career as an architect.

In 1983, the family moved to Stillwater, Okla. and Donna soon retired from nursing. In Stillwater, Donna became a legendary figure in her church where she taught a first grade Sunday school class for 10 years. An advocate for the humane treatment of animals, Donna frequently provided a loving home for abandoned pets and was a strong supporter of the Humane Society.

Following her death in January 2010, Donna's family established the Donna Marie Theisen Haire Memorial Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to honor her caring spirit and to perpetuate support for the causes she cared about.

"My mother gave so much to so many during her lifetime and never took credit," says Donna's son, Matthew Haire. "Through this memorial fund, we are able to pay tribute to the remarkable life she led."

Louis Loeffler Jr.

The word faithful describes the life of Louis Loeffler Jr. Faithful to his family, his religion and his career, the Oklahoma City businessman touched the lives of many during his 97 years.

Born in Chicago in 1912, Louis moved to Oklahoma City with his family at the age of six. In 1930, he graduated from Classen High School and went on to receive a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Oklahoma in 1935. After graduation he went to work for the family business, Federal Corporation, in Oklahoma City. Established by his father Louis Loeffler Sr. in 1918, the company remains a family-owned business and is a leading distributor of boiler room and power plant equipment in the state.

In 1939, Louis married Dorris and they raised four children. He was a devoted father and enjoyed filming extensive home videos of the family. Louis was also steadfast in his religion and was very active in his church and Gideons International, an interdenominational group dedicated to distributing Bibles around the world.

"Dad became involved with the Gideons following a Billy Graham crusade in Oklahoma City during the 1950s," says his son, Alan Loeffler. "He found great joy and satisfaction in sharing the scriptures."

The definition of a loyal employee, Louis worked at only one job with one company for his entire career of 65 years. He thoroughly enjoyed the engineering profession and was a life member of the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air-Conditioning Engineers, receiving the honor of "oldest active member" in the society at the age of 95.

In 2007, Louis and Dorris established the Loeffler Charitable Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to support various charitable organizations including Gideons International, Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma, Skyline Urban Ministry and City Rescue Mission. Although Louis died in 2009, his wife Dorris has continued the couple's philanthropic legacy through annual grants from their endowment fund to support the causes he was passionate about.

Terry Simmons and Chip Schrott

Terry Simmons and The CHIP Fund

Donors create endowment funds for many different reasons. Terry Simmons' motivation was simple – to help inspire others.

A 1966 graduate of U.S. Grant High School in Oklahoma City, Terry received his degree in journalism from the University of Oklahoma in 1970 and soon after headed to Washington, D.C. “to change the world.” Without a job, Terry began cleaning office buildings to support himself. One evening he met a business owner whose office he was cleaning. The owner, an investor and businessman named John D. “Chip” Schrott, recognized something special in Terry and offered him a job at his holding company that owned several manufacturing companies. As their friendship grew, Terry eventually became part owner of Reel-O-Matic Systems, a manufacturer of reeling and coiling equipment.

In 1988, Terry relocated the business to Oklahoma City. After Chip's death in 2001, Terry bought the remainder of the company. Grateful to his mentor for the opportunity he provided him, Terry wanted to help inspire others as Chip had inspired him. In 2010, he established the Chip Helping Inspire People (CHIP) Fund through a gift of stock.

“Chip was a very generous and compassionate man,” says Terry. “He was responsible for my success and I created this endowment fund to continue his legacy.”

Vivian S. Smith

Born in Brooklyn, New York in 1920, Vivian S. Smith was an exemplary scholar. By the age of 23, she had earned both her bachelor's and Ph.D. in zoology. It was while studying for her doctorate at the University of Illinois that she met Philip E. Smith. The couple married in 1942 and several years later relocated to Oklahoma when Philip accepted a teaching position with the University of Oklahoma's College of Medicine, while Vivian taught zoology and comparative anatomy at Oklahoma City University.

It wasn't until the couple's four daughters were college age that Vivian found her true calling as an advocate for the elderly. She helped to spearhead the Oklahoma Alliance on Aging, a statewide coalition of organizations, agencies and individuals whose goal is to improve the quality of life for older Oklahomans. For more than 30 years, Vivian lent her expertise and passion by serving on countless boards and through testimony before legislative committees. She was tireless in her efforts. She was a founding member of the Daily Living Center in Oklahoma City which until 1982 was the state's only day health center for impaired elderly. Vivian encouraged the center to establish an endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to which she made regular gifts. She died in July of 2009.

"It meant so much for mother to give and have the means to give," says her daughter, Nancy Friot. "It was very meaningful for her to support the organizations she believed in and worked for."

Pete & Lynne White

For Pete and Lynne White, making memorial gifts to endowment funds at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation makes perfect sense.

“We are able to not only honor the life of someone we cared for and respected but also benefit the endowments we care most about,” explains Pete.

The couple most often directs their memorial gifts to Catalyst Behavioral Services, an organization that provides substance abuse treatment, and the Fund for Oklahoma City, the unrestricted endowment utilized by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation Trustees to meet the needs and opportunities within the community.

Supporting their community is nothing new for the busy couple. Pete is a graduate of Oklahoma City’s Southeast High School who earned a bachelor’s degree from the University of Central Oklahoma before graduating from the Oklahoma City University School of Law in 1972. He also served in the U.S. Army and Army Reserve from 1957-63, a stint that included two tours of duty. Currently, Pete practices law and represents Ward 4 on the Oklahoma City Council, a position he held initially in the 1980s before being re-elected in 2005 and 2009. In addition to his professional affiliations, Pete also volunteers at Draper Park Christian Church and has served in leadership roles for groups such as the Sooner State Games.

Lynne is also a native Oklahoman and a graduate of Harding High School. She attended the University of Oklahoma and earned her master’s degree from Kean College in New Jersey where she taught school before returning to Oklahoma. No stranger to the state political scene, Lynne currently represents several state professional associations and private sector clients as a registered lobbyist. She also served as Gov. David Walters’ deputy chief of staff where she worked to advance the governor’s legislative and regulatory policies and programs before creating her own government relations consulting firm.

Marion DeVore

A devoted advocate of the arts, Marion DeVore had a sincere passion for serving her community. A native Oklahoman, she attended Wilson Elementary and Classen High School in Oklahoma City, as well as Smith College in Massachusetts. Mrs. DeVore devoted much of her time to civic endeavors serving on as many as 15 boards of directors. She served as president of the Oklahoma Arts Council and the Allied Arts Foundation and was a founder of the Oklahoma City Festival of the Arts in 1967. A lifetime trustee of the Oklahoma City Art Museum, Mrs. DeVore was honored with the Governor's Arts Award in 1975, and in 1995, received the Governor's Commendations for outstanding service in the community and state.

"Mom had a deep love for our community which she demonstrated daily," says Peter Hoffman Jr., her son. "She always wanted to add value wherever possible, particularly in the areas of art and education."

Mrs. DeVore died in January 2010, but her love of the arts lives on through her charitable contributions to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to support the many organizations that were important to her including the Allied Arts Foundation and Myriad Gardens.

Edward Eskridge

Auto pioneer Edward “Ed” Eskridge’s love of the automobile industry began at an early age. While working summers at his father’s downtown Oklahoma City dealership, Oklahoma Hudson, he set his goal to one day own his own dealership. Born in Oklahoma City, Ed graduated from Classen High School in 1945 and went on to serve in the U.S. Navy during World War II. After leaving the Navy, he attended the University of Oklahoma where he graduated in 1951. He and his wife, Barbara, were married in 1952 and that same year he and a partner formed Eskridge-Wright Oldsmobile in the Capitol Hill area. In 1960,

Ed partnered with his brother-in-law, Art King, and the two successfully operated the Oldsmobile dealership for more than 48 years, until General Motors discontinued the brand.

In 1970, the pair opened the first Honda dealership in the state and in 1989, they established one of the first Lexus dealerships in the country. Both continue to operate today in addition to Eskridge Chevrolet in Guthrie and a motorcycle dealership, OKC Thunder Cycles. Ed served as president of the Oklahoma City Motor Car Dealers and the Oklahoma Automobile Dealers Association, as well as commissioner for the Oklahoma Motor Vehicle Commission. He was very active in the Boy Scouts of America Last Frontier Council as an adult leader and received the Silver Beaver Award honoring his contributions to the program. Ed Eskridge died in June 2010, but the Eskridge family continues his legacy in the automobile industry as all four dealerships remain family-owned and operated.

“The attribute I cherish most about my dad was his unfailing love for our family, his trustworthiness and his compassionate attitude toward everyone,” says daughter Lynn Fielding. “He was a wonderful example for all of us.”

Ed and Barbara’s contributions to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation support the Classen Class of 1945 Scholarship Fund, Skyline Urban Ministry and other charitable organization endowments.

deadCENTER Film Festival

Founded in 2001, the deadCENTER Film Festival has become a nationally-recognized film festival attracting thousands of attendees to view more than 100 independent films over a five-day period each summer. Named for its central geographic location in Oklahoma City, the festival was designed to promote and encourage independent film arts and inspire growth in the local film industry.

The event began as a two-day screening featuring a handful of films at a single location in Oklahoma City. Ten years later the deadCENTER Film Festival has become a premiere platform for independent filmmakers featuring outdoor screenings in various downtown Oklahoma City venues, screenplay competitions and educational forums drawing filmmakers from around the world. In the photograph above, an audience watches the 2010 documentary “Richard Garriott: Man on a Mission” on the lawn at Northwest 3rd Street and E. K. Gaylord Boulevard.

The deadCENTER Film Festival provides year-round events to support the independent film arts.

New View Oklahoma

New View Oklahoma, formerly the Oklahoma League for the Blind, has been helping Oklahomans living with blindness since its establishment in 1949. The group works to empower visually impaired citizens to achieve independence through employment, rehabilitation and community outreach programs.

In fiscal year 2010, New View Oklahoma received an Advised Fund grant to help support the group's Aging in Place program, a rehabilitation service for older adults with vision loss. Seniors struggling with loss of vision are often faced with difficulty performing normal daily tasks such as preparing meals, managing finances or using the phone. The Aging in Place program helps to teach visually impaired seniors and their support networks how to continue to perform these basic tasks and equip them with the skills necessary to live independently. In the photograph above, Emory Finefrock demonstrates the computer skills he's learned through the program. Thanks to the training, Emory is able to live alone and volunteer at an assisted living center.

Thanks to this vital service, Oklahoma seniors like Emory facing vision loss are able to receive training in computer-assisted technology, mobility techniques and home-safety instruction, as well as independent living skills such as meal planning, cooking and medication management.

45th Infantry Division Museum

The 45th Infantry Division Museum located on Northeast 36th Street just east of Martin Luther King Avenue honors Oklahoma's contribution to national defense by providing visitors with a glimpse into the state's military history. The museum, which opened in 1976, is named after the 45th Infantry Division of the U.S. Army that was headquartered in Oklahoma City. Nicknamed the Thunderbirds, the division served in World War II and the Korean War and was highly regarded for its valiant efforts and fighting abilities.

Admission to the museum is free and features educational exhibits exploring Oklahoma's military past, including an extensive military weapons collection, artifacts from World War II and the Korean War, as well as a 15-acre park displaying military vehicles, tanks and aircraft. Additionally, the museum holds two annual patriotic ceremonies on Memorial Day and Veterans Day to pay tribute to our nation's veterans.

In 1984, the 45th Infantry Division Association established a COE fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to help support the museum's programs, exhibits and collections.

Putnam City Public Schools Foundation

Since 2007, the Putnam City Public Schools Foundation has funded the program Challenge Day at its three high schools. Challenge Day is a four-year character development program designed to reduce teasing, bullying and violence, increase student self-esteem and build more coherent, compassionate school communities. The program “challenges” the students to feel good about themselves and to accept their peers for who they are no matter how different they may seem.

“How we often hear our students describe Challenge Day is ‘life changing’,” says Caroline Gist, executive director. “It makes a profound impact on all who experience it.”

The Putnam City Public Schools Foundation is able to support Challenge Day thanks in part to the annual distribution the organization receives from the COE fund established in 1992. In addition to Challenge Day, the foundation also funds awards to teachers and staff, books for students and medical and health tests for children.

Cavett Kids Foundation

The Cavett Kids Foundation, formerly known as Camp Cavett, provides a variety of programs and camps for children with life-threatening illnesses. Founded in 1997 by Danny Cavett, a chaplain for The Children's Hospital at OU Medical Center, the foundation helps children battling chronic illnesses enjoy life while also learning to face their challenges.

Currently the organization helps more than 10,000 patients and their families annually through five camps, three ongoing programs and numerous annual events. The camps provide the children with the opportunity to connect with other campers facing the same struggles, while allowing them to enjoy a variety of recreational activities they might not otherwise be able to experience. The foundation also provides arts and crafts activities for patients in the waiting areas of the OU Children's Physicians Clinics, as well as a program to encourage healthy behaviors for patients in the pediatric dialysis unit.

In 2001, the Cavett Kids Foundation established a COE fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to help maintain and enhance their valuable programs and services.

Edmond Historical Society

Established in 1984, the Edmond Historical Society preserves and promotes the community's heritage through a collection of museum exhibits, educational programs and special events. Located on South Boulevard Street in Edmond, the museum takes visitors on a trip through history beginning in the 1800s when Edmond was a coal and water stop for the Santa Fe Railroad. The museum also offers a variety of children's programs, including a children's room with hands-on learning activities and an annual "Night at the Museum" event.

The Edmond Historical Society also operates Oklahoma's first one-room territorial schoolhouse, which is located at its original address at 124 E. 2nd St. in Edmond. The school is staffed with a resident schoolmarm who leads students through a typical 1889 school day.

In 1999, the Edmond Historical Society established a COE fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Initially, annual distributions from the fund were used to renovate the museum's children's room. Following the completion of that renovation in 2008, each annual distribution is reinvested into the endowment to help support the society in the future.

Center for Children and Families, Inc.

The Center for Children & Families, Inc. (CCFI) has been helping children find stability in an unstable world since 1969. Established as a shelter for children who needed a safe place to stay before entering the foster care system, CCFI has evolved to provide a range of services including healing abused and neglected children, supporting and educating parents and cultivating neighborhood connections.

In 2009, the board of directors established the Hope for Children Endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in recognition of the center's 40th anniversary. Named in memory of former board president Lynne Miller's daughter, Hope, the endowment will help sustain and enhance the quality of services provided by CCFI.

"Over time, this endowment will help to stabilize operating funds so programs and services can continue for the next 40 years and beyond," says Katie Fitzgerald, CCFI executive director. "The Hope for Children fund will be a critical source of support, and hope, for the children and families served by CCFI."

The Salvation Army Boys and Girls Club of Oklahoma City

Established in 1950, The Salvation Army Boys and Girls Club of Oklahoma City provides children of working parents with a safe, educational place to spend their time after school and during the summer. Located on Southeast 44th Street just east of Bryant Avenue, the club's after-school program offers recreational activities, as well as tutoring and homework assistance. Children are also encouraged to participate in fitness activities and are provided healthy snacks such as fresh fruits and vegetables through the club's healthy lifestyles initiative. During the summer, the organization operates a day camp offering an inexpensive alternative for families. Currently, the after-school program facilitates 70 children and the summer camp serves 60 children daily.

In 1991, a bequest from the estate of Margaret Annis Boys established a COE fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to help support the club's programs and activities, and to help fund scholarships for children who might not otherwise be able to afford to attend.

Carolyn Hill Collections Endowment Fund

Although a native of Oklahoma City, Carolyn Hill brought an outsider's perspective to her role as executive director of the Oklahoma City Museum of Art from 1994-2008.

For 30 years Carolyn lived and worked in New York City, first as a music teacher before opening her own art gallery in the SoHo district. When she returned in 1993 to care for her mother, she was soon tapped to head the Oklahoma City Museum of Art. At that time the museum was severely underfunded and was located in State Fair Park. During her tenure, she helped define the museum's mission as a service to the community and lead efforts to stabilize its funding. As support grew so did the desire for a visible permanent home. Carolyn led a successful $40 million campaign fueled by private funds that resulted in renovation of the former Centre Theater. In 2002, the Oklahoma City Museum of Art opened its doors at its new downtown location. Not one to rest, Carolyn gathered support to purchase the Dale Chihuly glass exhibit and bring the Roman Art from the Louvre exhibit, both crowning achievements that garnered national attention.

When she retired in 2008, the museum's board established the Carolyn Hill Collections Endowment Fund in her honor. Carolyn died in May 2010. Her mark on the museum and the community are undeniable. Twenty-five years ago no one could have imagined that the Oklahoma City Museum of Art would one day be considered one of the jewels of Oklahoma City.

Field of Interest Funds

Donors can support a specific area of charitable interest through a Field of Interest Fund. Once a Field of Interest Fund is established, our Trustees administer the fund to meet current needs and opportunities within the defined area. For Field of Interest Fund grants awarded during fiscal year 2010, please see page 54.

W.H. Crocus Seeing Eye Dog Fund | 1998

In the office building where an anonymous donor worked, a blind man and his Seeing Eye dog would pass him in the hall every day. The donor came to admire the trusting relationship between the man and his dog and established a fund to help visually impaired individuals secure Seeing Eye dogs. The fund is named for the first Seeing Eye dog sponsored through the fund.

Embassy of Korea | 1975

While serving as honorary consul for the Embassy of Korea in Oklahoma City, John Kirkpatrick received a $1,000 check from the Ambassador of Korea to support special program activities in the Oklahoma City area. Mr. Kirkpatrick donated this check and many subsequent checks to establish this fund that supports Korean and other Asian cultural activities throughout the community.

Forward Oklahoma | 1997

In the early 1980s, a group of young businessmen who wanted to enhance metropolitan Oklahoma City launched an aggressive economic development program. When the group's core members moved on to other projects, an endowment fund was established with the remaining assets. Distributions from the fund continue to support the economic development of Oklahoma City.

Hospitals and Health Care | 1971

The fund promotes health care services through grants to organizations that provide direct services such as indigent care, prescription drugs, eyeglasses, medical exams and dental care.

Florida M. Knight Trust | 1975

This fund receives and distributes the earnings of the Florida M. Knight Trust. Mrs. Knight was a local businesswoman in the 1930s who left a downtown building to the original trust. While the building is gone and her family no longer lives here, the Florida M. Knight Trust supports grants to improve the quality of life of handicapped and disabled children in the Oklahoma City area.

Lillian Frances Watts Meador | 1996

William Meador of Columbus, Ohio, established a fund in memory of his mother who loved both flowers and Oklahoma City. The earnings are used to purchase and plant hyacinth bulbs in public parks and lands and are distributed through the Margaret Annis Boys Trust grant program.

Medical Research Funds | 1986

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation has received a number of gifts to establish funds for various medical research areas. In order to have a greater impact on medical science, each year we cooperate with the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine Alumni Association, the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation and other groups to fund research projects at those institutions. Separate funds are maintained in the following areas: Allergy Research, Arthritis Research, Diabetes Research, Heart Disease Research and Parkinson's Disease Research.

Oklahoma City Opera Association | 1970

In the late 1960s, the Oklahoma City Opera Association sponsored opera performances. At its final meeting, the association used its remaining assets to establish an endowment.

Tinker Air Force Base - General's Fund | 1988

Established by John Kirkpatrick to support the special needs of those serving on the base.

Additional Field of Interest Funds

The COE funds established to benefit organizations that no longer exist are utilized by the Trustees to support activities related to the original intent of the endowments and are reclassified as Field of Interest Funds.

Oklahoma Caring Foundation

Thanks to a fiscal year 2010 grant from the Access to Healthcare Field of Interest Fund, the Oklahoma Caring Foundation was able to enhance its free immunization program for Oklahoma City area children. The grant was one of several grants the organization used to purchase a new Caring Van. The vehicle replaced an 11-year old van and offers added storage and other amenities that assist the registered nurses who give the immunizations to at-risk children. The nurses travel to child care centers, schools and community events to provide the immunizations.

The Oklahoma Caring Foundation was established in 1994 by Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Oklahoma to improve the health of Oklahoma children through vaccinations and access to basic health care. The Caring Van has been the group's primary focus for the past 10 years, making health care more accessible by eliminating the barriers of inconvenient clinic hours, long wait times, transportation and cost. During that time the program has provided more than 150,000 immunizations.

Classen Class of '54

Sally Freel Brunett enjoyed giving more than receiving. Whether it was as an elementary school teacher, hospital volunteer, tutor or a devoted mother, she put her whole heart into every project she touched.

During the past 20 years much of Sally's time was spent working with the Classen Alumni Association. She single-handedly was responsible for locating and contacting hundreds of Classen graduates who had moved out of Oklahoma City and were unaware of the association. As a board member, she was a frequent contributor to New Classen Life, the association's magazine. For her own beloved class of 1954, she was considered the glue that held the class together by organizing quarterly luncheons for her Oklahoma City classmates and distributing a class newsletter.

Sally was also devoted to the students attending her alma mater at the Classen School of Advanced Studies and was responsible for recruiting students to attend the association board meetings. In addition, she spearheaded the annual valedictorian dinner and often kept in touch with recent graduates and encouraged their involvement in the alumni association. Sally died in September of 2009.

To pay homage to the memory of Sally and other deceased classmates, her class members established a scholarship fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in 2009. The Classen Class of '54 Scholarship awarded its first scholarship in 2010 to Kristina Nguyen, a Classen School of Advanced Studies honor student who hopes to pursue a career in medicine. Pictured with Kristina above are Class of '54 members Mickey McVay, Suzie Frentriss and Kay Lindsey.

Kirkpatrick Family Fund

The Kirkpatrick Family Fund provides grants to sustain effective organizations, build capacity and to seed innovation and successful growth of programs in central Oklahoma. The fund supports three grant programs: Project Support Grants, General Operating Support Grants and Endowment Matching Grants. For information about grant guidelines please visit www.KirkpatrickFamilyFund.org or call 405/767-3702.

The Kirkpatrick Family Fund values excellence in the arts. During Fiscal Year 2010, under the leadership of Christian K. Keesee, the fund's trustees made grants to several organizations which resulted in fresh and interesting new programs even during a period of economic challenges. Specifically, the grants to Oklahoma Visual Arts Coalition and Oklahoma City Ballet are great examples of how organizations created innovative programs that challenged and benefited Oklahoma artists and audiences.

Oklahoma Visual Arts Coalition, in cooperation with the University of Oklahoma's School of Art & Art History and the Oklahoma City Museum of Art, created the Oklahoma Art Writing and Curatorial Fellowship Program. The program's purpose is to encourage writing that is informed and articulate and inspires and engages audiences in contemporary art. Twelve fellows, selected through a competitive process, had the opportunity to learn from mentors with extensive national and international writing and curatorial experience. These mentors worked throughout the year to provide critical guidance to the Fellows as they produced their art writing and exhibition projects. The public also participated through various topics-focused panels about contemporary art allowing them to learn and interact with the program mentors. The public could also follow the projects of the Fellows on a blog set up specifically for the program.

Oklahoma City Ballet understands that the future of the company lies in not only performing the classic repertory that audiences have grown to expect but to also present new works by young American choreographers that would energize audiences. "Zephyrus" by Helen Pickett and "Touchstone" by Oklahoma City Ballet artistic director Robert Mills are examples of the exciting and fresh works that were funded in part through a Kirkpatrick Family Fund grant. The combination of new and classic works made for a dynamic season and provided a foundation to build the company, dance school and future audiences.

Oklahoma Visual Arts Coalition and Oklahoma City Ballet believe if you nurture the source of artistic excellence you create the foundation for exceptional arts experiences. The Kirkpatrick Family Fund is proud to support these two organizations and many others in their efforts to advance the arts in Oklahoma.

Community Programs

Through our Community Programs we take a leadership role in addressing community issues and opportunities. We take a proactive approach to develop resources and work with partner organizations to create an impact for the benefit of the community.

By focusing on specific issues, we develop a base of knowledge and expertise so that we understand the challenges and, as a result, develop programs and partnerships that provide solutions. During fiscal year 2010, a team of dedicated professional employees worked to coordinate the efforts, leverage resources to maximize the impact and provide leadership in the community in the following focus areas: Capacity Building, Margaret Annis Boys Trust/Parks & Public Spaces Initiative, LIFE (Literacy is For Everyone) Initiative and the Trustee Scholarship Initiative. Each Community Programs area works with a committee comprised of community volunteers and Trustees. For a list of committee members who served during fiscal year 2010, please see page 55.

Fund for Oklahoma City

The Fund for Oklahoma City represents a compilation of unrestricted funds that serve as the primary funding source for Community Programs and the focus areas.

Capacity Building Program

In 1999, the Trustees launched the Capacity Building Program to help nonprofits for whom we managed an endowment fund to better accomplish their missions, use resources more efficiently and to serve the needs of the community more effectively. Since its launch, we have provided resources and services to assist them with endowment development, planned giving efforts and addressed their administrative and management functions. These efforts were provided through education, online resources and a discretionary grants program.

Cimarron Opera Company

A fiscal year 2010 grant through the Capacity Building Program allowed Cimarron Opera Company to redesign its website and enhance its ability to facilitate online ticket reservations, purchases and to post videos. Cimarron Opera Company was established in 1975 by famed opera singers Thomas Carey and his wife Carol Brice Carey, both of whom taught at the University of Oklahoma. The couple created the organization to provide aspiring artists of all ages an opportunity to sing on stage and also bring operative productions to the state.

During the 2009 Long Range Planning Process, the Trustees asked that all Community Programs be reviewed to ensure they were having an impact and were meeting the needs of the community. The results showed that the Capacity Building Program had made an impact in endowment building; had provided timely resources through workshops and training opportunities; and had helped organizations enhance their management capacity. The review included a survey of the Charitable Organization Endowment (COE) fund representatives that asked what their needs were in regard to sustainability. The survey revealed that many of the organizations were faced with a demand to do more programming but that the need to constantly pursue funding for current programs overrode the need for training, governance and fiscal accountability.

As a result, the Capacity Building Program has been reoriented from the concept of capacity building to one of building sustainable organizations. This new concept ties in with the endowment building and planned giving elements of our COE Program. Effective fiscal year 2011, the program will continue to offer free training, communications and other support services for endowment building and planned giving. In addition, two new grant opportunities will address the sustainability issues of the organizations on two levels. The Basic Operational Grant will assist organizations with first time need for audits, strategic plans, basic management consulting and specific training for board and staff. The Sustainable Organizational Support (SOS) Grant will support activities that generate a fundamental improvement in the structure, systems and strategies of an organization that leads to a more stable operation. The SOS Grant will assist with donor development, marketing and communications, organizational review and strategic planning.

Margaret Annis Boys Trust/Parks & Public Spaces Initiative

Through the Margaret Annis Boys Trust and the Parks & Public Spaces Initiative, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation has helped to improve the landscape of our community's public parks and medians, schools and neighborhoods for nearly 20 years. During fiscal year 2010, several noteworthy projects were funded and are highlighted below.

Route 66 Boathouse

Located on the east shore of Lake Overholser, the Route 66 Boathouse provides an excellent venue for kayaking and rowing sports. In 2010, we joined together with the Oklahoma Arborist's Association to coordinate a shoreline cleanup project at the lake. Additionally, the Margaret Annis Boys Trust awarded a grant to landscape the grounds surrounding the facility.

Park System Study

Through the Parks & Public Spaces Initiative, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation has commissioned a study of the Oklahoma City Parks system to help develop a strategic plan and to identify resources needed for the enhancement and maintenance of the community's parks and medians. Study results will be available in fiscal year 2011.

Will Rogers Gardens Conservancy Fund

In the fall of 2009, a Margaret Annis Boys Trust grant was awarded to the City of Oklahoma City for the benefit of Will Rogers Gardens to rename the 10-acre arboretum in honor of Miss Boys. The Margaret Annis Boys Arboretum Endowment and the Will Rogers Gardens Conservancy Fund were established to support improvements to the arboretum as well as to provide a vehicle through which individual donors can contribute to support the long-term maintenance of the arboretum and the gardens.

Clean and Beautiful Schools

Since 2000, the Clean and Beautiful Schools program has helped to support the improvement and maintenance of elementary school grounds throughout Oklahoma county. More than 130 schools have participated in the program since its inception. During fiscal year 2010 we continued to host free maintenance workshops for school groundskeepers.

For a list of all grants awarded in fiscal year 2010, please see page 54. For more information on our beautification programs and grants, please contact Brian Dougherty at 405/606-2908 or b.dougherty@occf.org.

Route 66 Boathouse

A fiscal year 2010 grant from the Margaret Annis Boys Trust was awarded to the Oklahoma City Boathouse Foundation for landscaping surrounding the renovated Route 66 Boathouse. Located on the eastern shores of Lake Overholser, the boathouse is a component of the official Olympic and Paralympic Training site designation of the Oklahoma City Boathouse Foundation and will provide a training venue for Olympic hopefuls. The boathouse offers kayak and bike rentals as well as a meeting and rest area for Lake Overholser trail users.

LIFE (Literacy Is For Everyone) Initiative

Established in 2005, the LIFE (Literacy Is For Everyone) Initiative was created to address illiteracy in our community and to provide all adults and families in the metropolitan area the opportunity to learn to read, write and speak English at a functional level.

The LIFE Initiative works closely with literacy providers in the community to provide resources and funding for training, materials and support. Through the initiative, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation works to increase community awareness for literacy skills and integrate literacy into social services, job training and other rehabilitation programs.

Community Literacy Centers

A fiscal year 2010 LIFE grant was awarded to Community Literacy Centers (CLC) to support hiring staff for two additional English as a Second Language (ESL) sites. Thanks to the grant, CLC expanded its ESL programming to the Oklahoma City Church of the Nazarene and the Educare Center. Above, ESL instructor Shelly Lightfoot teaches a class at the Educare Center in south Oklahoma City. Established in 1987, CLC is a nonprofit organization that offers free programs to teach adults to read.

Get Reading Oklahoma

Launched in 2009, Get Reading Oklahoma is in its second year assisting Oklahoma adults in improving their reading, writing and math skills through readily accessible programming on public and cable television and online video streaming. The project includes TV411, an award-winning basic adult skills series; GED Connection, a television series devoted to improving skills for the GED exam; and www.GetReadingOklahoma.org, a website that offers online video streaming of both series and contact information for statewide literacy providers.

In 2010, we teamed together once again with the Oklahoma Educational Television Authority (OETA), Cox Communications, Oklahoma Department of Libraries, the Central Oklahoma Workforce Investment Board, the Oklahoma City Metro Literacy Coalition, the Oklahoma Department of Education and Tyler Media to promote and provide the programming. GED Connection and TV411 aired during June and July on OETA and were also available continuously through Cox's ON DEMAND Freezone section on channel 1, channel 18 in Oklahoma City and channel 21 in Tulsa.

Additionally, GED Connection and TV411 workbooks, teachers' guides and DVDs were provided to literacy programs, GED providers and public libraries throughout the state, and a toll free telephone number 1-888-OK2Read (1-888-652-7323) is available for individuals seeking literacy services in their community or who want to volunteer.

For more information about the LIFE Initiative, please contact Mary Surbeck at 405/606-2917 or m.surbeck@occf.org.

For a list of all grants awarded in fiscal year 2010, please see page 54.

Trustee Scholarship Initiative

Founded in 1998, the Trustee Scholarship Initiative was established to encourage more students in central Oklahoma to continue their education after graduating from high school. Through June 30, 2010, the initiative has awarded more than $3.7 million in scholarship funds to 2,915 students through its five scholarship programs.

Scholarship Programs

The Community Foundation Scholars program awards scholarships to college-bound students who may not qualify for the most competitive academic scholarships, but are good students involved in school and civic activities. In 2010, 83 scholarships of $1,500 each were awarded.

The Foundation of Promise Scholars program helps students to become the first in their family to attend college. Recipients have completed a series of college preparatory activities, including summer employment. In 2010, 61 students received a $1,500 Foundation of Promise award.

The Oklahoma Youth With Promise program assists students who have graduated from high school while in Oklahoma's foster care system and wish to pursue a post-secondary education. Most recently, 56 students were awarded scholarships through this program.

The Non-Traditional Scholar program helps adults re-entering the educational system by working through several agencies to identify adults who have completed one educational program and possess the ability and desire to advance to another program. Mentoring support is provided to recipients through their sponsoring organizations.

The Nurse Education Program was established in 2003 to address staffing challenges facing the area's nonprofit hospitals. Scholarships are provided to nurses employed at any of five participating hospitals who are seeking an associate or bachelor's degree in nursing. In fiscal year 2010 no awards were made as the program was being restructured. Awards will be available for fiscal year 2011.

"Thank you for selecting me! Without your donations to the scholarship fund it would not exist and my dream of success would be that much harder to reach. I am deeply honored, deeply proud and deeply thankful to have received this scholarship."

Maria Lopez
2010 Santa Fe South High School graduate and Foundation of Promise Scholar

"I am honored to be one of the recipients of the Community Foundation Scholars award. Thanks to the program, my dreams of pursuing college are becoming a reality. Without scholarship patrons like you, there would be many students such as myself unable to pursue the career they've dreamed of."

In 1963, Dr. Robert "Bob" Woolsey became the fourth headmaster of Casady School. A graduate of Yale University, he brought with him not only an impressive teaching career but also a passion to create a school that fostered the best and brightest. Thanks to his time spent teaching at top schools on the East Coast, Dr. Woolsey attracted top faculty to Casady. He led the efforts on several capital and endowment campaigns and launched a construction project that would unify the campus. With his wife Jo Anne at his side, Dr. Woolsey helped to mold Casady School into one of the region's top college preparatory schools.

After his retirement from Casady in 1980, John E. Kirkpatrick and Ed Joullian convinced Dr. Woolsey to serve as executive director of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, a role he filled for two years. He brought to the job the same expectation for excellence and for not settling for anything but the best for the organization.

"Dr. Woolsey's tenure at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation helped establish our credibility," says Nancy B. Anthony, executive director since 1985. "He was always supportive and encouraging. What a great person to follow!"

Dr. Woolsey died on March 19, 2010 at the age of 92.

Administrative Expenses

Economies of scale and a close watch on the budget enable the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to operate at an extremely low cost. We attempt to balance the level of services provided with a cost conscious approach and are pleased to report that administrative expenses over the last five years have averaged just under 40 basis points (4/10 of 1 percent).

Investment Management Costs

The low cost and efficient operation of our investment program benefits all endowments. We accomplish this by using active managers and index funds in a way that maximizes the opportunity for adding value but keeps the costs low. For fiscal year 2010, our costs of investments was 39 basis points, compared to more than 100 basis points for the average mutual fund or active equity fund manager who requires a large minimum account.

Our Investment Process

Since July 1, 1998, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation has used an investment management structure that includes the oversight provided by a strong Investment Committee and employs a style-based investment manager system. The Investment Committee allocates assets to specific investment styles and hires investment managers to manage that particular style. Hotchkiss Associates serves as our investment counsel and advises on asset allocation and specific managers.

Step 1

Our management process begins with the Investment Committee's determination of percentages of assets to be allocated between equities, fixed income securities and cash.

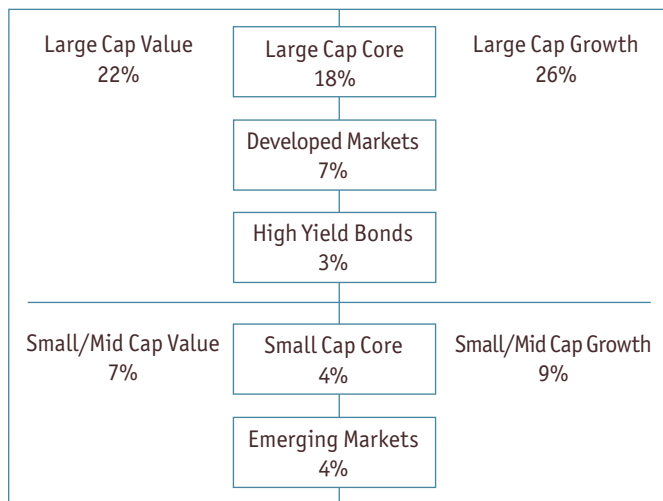

Asset Allocation Targets for the General Investment Pool as of June 30, 2010:

| | Target | Range |
|--------------|--------|--------|
| Equity | 62.5% | 40–70% |
| Fixed Income | 34.5% | 30–60% |
| Cash | 3.0% | 0–10% |

Step 2

Next, the committee determines the equity allocation among the various styles of equity management.

Asset Class Target Percentages for the General Investment Pool as of June 30, 2010

Step 3

Once allocation is decided, the committee selects the style-specific equity managers. Their performance is evaluated against the appropriate benchmark for their particular sector. They are also evaluated as to their adherence to the specific style they have been engaged to manage.
