ANNUAL REPORT 1991

1991 was a year of strong endowment growth, new paths taken and networks created. Donor contributions amounted to $13.1 million, bringing the total value of the Foundation's endowment to $65 million. Earnings of $3 million will benefit more than 250 non-profit organizations. The cumulative investment return for the four Fiscal Trustee Banks was 11.02 percent.

Two former designated funds, The Cowboy Hall of Fame and the Air Space Museum, became affiliated funds. Affiliated funds function with their own board of directors as subsidiaries of the Community Foundation and can be established with initial assets of $500,000.

A specially appointed committee has finalized guidelines for considering grant requests to The Margaret Annis Boys Trust, established to help care for Oklahoma City landscaping projects. Grant deadlines for the Boys Trust Committee are the same as for other grant requests to the Community Foundation — July 31 and January 31.

New Initiative grants from the Fund for Oklahoma City were awarded to the Harn Homestead for

About the Cover

The cover photo for the 1991 Annual Report is a cluster of rose rocks at the Timberlake Rose Rock Museum in Noble. Rose rocks are found in the narrow band of Garber and Wellington sandstone formations that were deposited 250 million years ago in central Oklahoma between Pauls Valley and Guthrie.

Oklahoma's rose rocks are composed of approximately 50 percent barite and 50 percent quartz sand. Their rose-like appearance is due to the growth of barite into a cluster of divergent blades. They range in size from those just large enough to distinguish to some 14 or 15 inches across.

Red barite roses are only found in Oklahoma; a few whitish gray and yellow ones have been found across the Kansas line. Similar formations have been found in California and Egypt, but they are made of selenite, a form of gypsum. Oklahoma's rose rock was designated the official state rock in 1968.

Sometimes called the "Cherokee Rose," legend tells of God looking down on the Indians who were forced to leave their homeland in the southeastern Appalachian states and came to Oklahoma in the winter of 1839. Of the 18,000 Cherokees who began the exodus, 4,000 died of hunger and disease on this forced march which later became known as the Trail of Tears. To commemorate their suffering and bravery, it is said that God turned the blood and tears they shed into stones the shape of a rose.

Introduction

a new educational program, to Oklahoma City Beautiful for a recycling campaign, and to Travelers Aid and Community Council for a training program for caseworkers who work with the homeless. New initiative grants provide sustained support for new programs and services by awarding a series of individual grants in amounts up to $25,000 over a three-year period. Other grants are considered one year at a time. During the past year, the Community Foundation approved 36 grant requests totalling $244,849.

New name funds and designated funds reflect the diversity of our donors as well as the Community Foundation's flexibility in accommodating donor needs. Finding a way to administer The Margaret Annis Boys Trust was a new challenge and a new opportunity. The guidebook "Trees for Oklahoma City" was the product of a collaboration among The City of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma City Beautiful, and the Community Foundation.

An international group of women aviators established a designated fund to provide income for their organization. A group of symphonic music lovers created a fund to support symphonic music in this community. A sorority set up a fund to provide scholarships for its members. Corporate contributions include a five year pledge to the Oklahoma School of Science and Mathematics and a gift to The Fund for Oklahoma City. Two more scholarships have been established, and a longstanding endowment for music awards has been transferred to the Community Foundation. An anonymous donor to Jesus House will remain anonymous while her contribution provides an endowment to support that organization.

Almost $56 million of the Community Foundation's total endowment consists of affiliated fund assets and assets designated by donors for specific causes. Involvement, strength, and diversity of wisdom exist in such a donor-driven foundation. As the Fund for Oklahoma City grows, so will the Foundation's ability to make grants and respond to new needs that donors might not have foreseen. As you read the pages of this annual report, we invite you to consider contributing to your community through The Oklahoma City Community Foundation.

Each has its own board of trustees, and is separately incorporated as a non-profit organization. The Community Foundation appoints a majority of the board of each Affiliated Fund and provides all of the management and investment services. Affiliated Funds provide customized management for the assets of a charitable foundation and the endowment funds of non-profit organizations.

Name Funds

Since 1969, more than 3,800 individual contributions have been made to the permanent endowment funds of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Those individuals and groups whose total contributions exceed $5,000 are aggregated in Name Funds. The earnings on these Name Funds benefit those organizations and areas of interest specified by the donors. Distribution of earnings to organizations are always identified by the Name Fund source of those earnings.

As you read through the list of Name Funds as of June 30, 1991, you will note both the breadth of support for the Community Foundation and the diversity of organizations and activities which receive the financial benefit.

A Name Fund is a permanent and meaningful contribution to the Oklahoma City community. It provides support for the areas of the donor's interest and recognition for themselves or another whom they wish to honor. Through Name Fund contributions donors can creatively and thoughtfully express support for their own individual charitable interests.

Jesus House

"I had the time to spend. I came down to visit and I kept coming back," said an anonymous donor who has set up a designated fund for Jesus House. The draw, the donor said, was the accepting, non-judgmental atmosphere that seemed to say, "You're loved, you're welcome, here is your home. How can we help?"

Jesus House is a non-denominational ministry that began in 1973 to help youth in drug recovery and soon expanded to alcohol recovery. A move downtown to West Reno Street initiated the inner city ministry to the city's poor. Today, Jesus House is located in the old Orchard Park School Building on West Sheridan, where as many as 1,000 meals are served daily. Each week the staff at Jesus House, whose salaries are food and shelter, prepare and distribute 1,500 food baskets to needy families. Shelter, medical assistance, clothing and household goods are also provided.

The needs of the people who come to Jesus House are growing and endless, and if founder Ruth Wynne has money to spend she will spend it on them, the donor said. Most of the money that supports Jesus House comes from individual donations that periodically fall short of what needs to be done. It is this donor's hope that an endowment fund will help bring the staff and the people who come to Jesus House through those difficult times.

Ruth Wynne, one of the original two founders of Jesus House, spends many hours on the telephone to counsel and keep supplies coming in.

The presence of the Oklahoma City Philharmonic Orchestra adds much to the cultural climate of our community.

Friends of Music United

With the demise of the Oklahoma Symphony Orchestra in 1988 Oklahoma City was left, temporarily, without professional symphonic music. In response, over 400 people in Central Oklahoma formed a group and called it "Friends of Music United, Inc.," dedicated to bringing symphonic music back to Oklahoma City and raising dollars and public awareness to perpetuate this cause.

These citizens, many of whom had first been exposed to symphonic music by the children's programs of the Oklahoma Symphony Orchestra, achieved their first goal with the creation of the Oklahoma City Philharmonic Orchestra in 1989.

In the future, regardless of name changes or regrouping of organizations, the name fund created by Friends of Music United will continue to support symphonic music in this community.

Margaret Annis Boys Trust

Born in 1909 on an Oklahoma farm, Margaret Annis Boys knew almost every flower that grows in this state. She loved to pick up the ladies in her Oldsmobile and go for drives in the countryside, naming the flowers as she passed them. She was a world traveler, but remained convinced that Oklahoma is a fine place to live.

Boys retired from Buchanan Elementary School in 1972, after serving 42 years as a teacher and principal in the Oklahoma City School System. She never married, had many friends but no known heirs. When she died, her will bequeathed $1.2 million to be held in trust by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation.

Boys attended Oklahoma City public schools and graduated from Central High School in May 1926. After graduating from The University of Oklahoma she took a teaching position at Westwood.

She continued teaching for 20 years, and she taught well. One of her students remembers that she made children feel they could do anything. In 1952, Boys became a principal at Madison. She was good to everyone who worked with her and meticulous in everything she did. "She ran the school the way a school ought to be run," recalled a former associate. "Dignity" is a word often used to describe Margaret Annis Boys.

Boys' will specified that income from her trust will be used for the care and maintenance of public parks and medians in Oklahoma City, "with emphasis on the planting and caring for flowers in said parks and medians and the mowing of said parks and medians."

A committee appointed by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation will consider requests from community groups seeking assistance with startup funds for their projects. Commitment to long-term maintenance must be part of project plans.

Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club Scholarship

The Pi Beta Phi Scholarship will be awarded to an Oklahoma City area sophomore, junior, or senior active member of Pi Beta Phi at the University of Oklahoma or Oklahoma State University. Selection will be based on academic achievement, campus and fraternity involvement, and the family's ability to contribute toward financing of the student's college education.

The Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club is made up of alumnae of the college women's fraternity of Pi Beta Phi. Its mission is to provide members with support and friendship in new communities as they leave college, to continue sorority bonds established during college years, and to support philanthropic activities on the local and national level. Through its national headquarters it provides scholarship support to alumnae and has a "job-line" to help Pi Phis network and learn of new job opportunities around the country. There are over 350 alumnae chapters of Pi Beta Phi around the country.

Love of music was a mutual interest shared by Frank and Merle Buttram throughout 50 years of marriage.

Buttram String Awards

The inspiration for the Buttram String Awards was Merle Newby Buttram, civic leader and former professor of violin at the University of Oklahoma. She was instrumental in establishing a string music program in Oklahoma City high schools, and established the awards to give encouragement to young people who were string players. "There is a dearth of violin and string players in our country," she once wrote. "Without strings, the great heritage of symphonic and chamber music given us through the centuries will be lost."

Buttram's husband was Frank Buttram, a multi-talented oilman who once struck out Ty Cobb during spring training at The University of Oklahoma. He was offered a major league pitching berth, but elected instead to stick with his geology books. He became a millionaire before he was 32. "Love of music was among the abiding mutual interests through 50 years of marriage," wrote The Oklahoman when Buttram died in 1966. "Buttram liked to recall the first 50 cents he ever earned chopping cotton at age 8, was spent for a song book."

The Buttram String Awards program began after World War II. This year its endowment fund was moved to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Applications for the awards are sent annually to every high school in the state. Students choose the music they play in the contest from selections on the application and awards are given in each instrument category, if the judges feel awards are merited. Judges are Dorsey Buttram, one of the Buttrams' five children, and three music professionals. Usually there are at least two quartets and a dozen individual contestants every spring, Buttram said. Last year's top winner received $1,800.

In 1929, 99 of the 117 licensed women pilots assembled at Curtiss Field on Long Island to create an organization for mutual support and the advancement of aviation. The Ninety-Nines, Inc., named for those 99 charter members, has since grown to nearly 7,000 women licensed pilots from 41 countries.

The Ninety-Nines focus on educational and philanthropic projects, one of which is the proposed restoration and maintenance of the birthplace of Amelia Earhardt, the group's first president. Other projects include educational workshops for teachers, "co-pilot" courses for apprehensive plane passengers, and transportation for cancer patients through CAN, the Corporate Angel Network. The Amelia Earhardt Research Scholar Grant is given to a specialized scholar for work to expand knowledge about women in aviation and space.

One FAA official called the Ninety-Nines the foremost international organization of women pilots. "Dedication to safety and aviation education are the key works in their individual efforts. All of this is done without fanfare or much-deserved recognition," he said.

The 99s established their own designated fund to provide future income for the organization.

At five cents a pound the average passenger would pay $7.50 for a ride at this Ninety-Nines fund raising event for the support of their many philanthropic efforts.

That endowment has been started at the Community Foundation. Kimberly Clark is a worldwide manufacturer of tissue and paper products and is involved in commercial air transportation. Its corporate policy is to support causes that improve the quality of life in communities where its operations are located.

The School is a two-year residential public high school for Oklahoma Juniors and Seniors who have shown special ability in Science and Mathematics. Room, board and tuition are provided by the state of Oklahoma. Students who qualify for additional financial assistance for school supplies will receive a stipend from the student endowment fund.

Now in its second academic year, the Oklahoma School for Science and Mathematics has enrolled 135 students. When its new facility is completed, enrollment is expected to grow to 300.

Dick Clements Sr. and William M. Cain Sr. tasted and tested coffee blends at the Cain's Coffee Company.

Cain's Coffee

After her husband died, the mother of William Morgan Cain loaded her nine children into a horse-drawn wagon and headed west from Indiana. The family settled in Oklahoma shortly before the turn of the century.

Cain first saw a pile of newly picked coffee in Brazil, one of his ports of call while in the Navy. From that time on, Cain knew that bringing those beans to the United States was his goal. With great deliberation he saved his money in anticipation of establishing his own coffee business. He worked for the A & P Company for a year to gain experience, then bought out Oklahoma City's almost defunct Western Tea and Coffee Company in 1919.

At first, Cain ran a one-man enterprise. He roasted his own coffee, ground it, packed it, and peddled it on foot from a basket over his arm. A cafeteria, no longer in existence, was his first steady customer.

Today, Cain's coffee blends, roasts, and grinds approximately 20 million pounds of coffee a year and employs more than 500 people. Its products, which now include tea and spices, are sold in 12 states. Cain's coffee is a leading seller in grocery stores of Oklahoma, and more Cain's coffee is sold to Oklahoma restaurants and hotels than all other brands of coffee combined.

This year, Cain's Coffee made a contribution to the Fund for Oklahoma City, chosen because of the broad range of benefits it provides through grants to community projects.

Donor Funds

Donor Funds are the aggregate contributions of those individuals and organizations whose total contributions to the permanent endowment are between $1,000 and $5,000. This new type of fund was created in 1991 to recognize contributions and memorials which are smaller than Name Funds but important to the Community Foundation and to those agencies which benefit.

Many of these Donor Funds were created in the early years of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation when support for the Community Foundation was essential in establishing this new venture. The Community Foundation is grateful for those initial Donor Funds which form the basis for the Community Foundation's future development.

Donor Funds have frequently been established through memorial contributions. These funds create a permanent and meaningful recognition for individuals as well as distributing support annually to non-profit organizations.

Harley Custer Memorial Scholarship

In a tribute to his grandfather, George Harley Custer, Robert Custer wrote: "Grandpa's greatest joy was when he was busy doing something for someone else — whether it was helping thousands of farmers get their start or canning thousands of vegetables to be enjoyed by family and friends."

Through the fund that was established after his death in 1990 G. Harley Custer will continue to help others, by awarding a scholarship to a deserving participant at the Oklahoma 4H and FFA Junior Livestock Show.

Born in 1910 on the banks of Beaver Creek near Kaw City and raised in Grainola, Custer remained true to his roots. He was widely known for his support of the livestock industry, serving as general manager and executive secretary of all five affiliates of the Oklahoma Livestock Marketing Association from 1952 to 1979. In 1987 he and his son founded the Custer and Custer Commission Company at the Oklahoma City Stock Yards. He served as a director of the Oklahoma City Branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City for six years.

"He loved what he did," wrote his grandson. "His car even had a bumper sticker that read, "Support beef, run over a chicken." As far as I can remember, he never ate chicken. He was as genuine as they come."

Grants & Distributions

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1991, the OKLAHOMA CITY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION distributed $2,471,000 of endowment earnings to support community organizations and activities. These grants were made through four separate programs:

Designated Fund earnings are those from contributions to the Community Foundation which have been specifically designated to benefit individual charitable organizations. In addition to these cash distributions, the agencies also received an allocation from realized investment gains.

Donor-Advised grants are from Name Funds where the donor is able to advise the Trustees of the Community Foundation on which organization should receive contributions from their Name Funds.

Trustee grants are grants recommended by the Grants Committee of the Trustees of the Community Foundation. Earnings supporting these grants come from the Fund for Oklahoma City and other funds for specific areas of interest. These funds are supported by many different Name Funds.

Grants from the Omniplex Affiliated Fund, The Kirkpatrick Center Affiliated Fund, Kirkpatrick Family Affiliated Fund, and the William E. and Margaret H. Davis Family Fund are made by the Trustees of those funds and administered by the Community Foundation.

Trees for Oklahoma City

"Trees for Oklahoma City" is a result of cooperation on a project. Several years ago, both the city of Oklahoma City and Oklahoma City Beautiful were planning to produce a tree guide.

The forerunner of this idea was a pamphlet by the same name that came out in 1973. Morrison Tucker, who was then President of the Board of Oklahoma City Beautiful, subsidized the writing of the first pamphlet. It was published by Oklahoma City Beautiful, several banks, and the Oklahoma City Community Foundation.

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation agreed to pay printing costs for a new booklet. The City supplied much of the information that would be included, and Oklahoma City Beautiful Executive Director Sydney W. Dobson coordinated the project.

The first 10,000 copies of "Trees for Oklahoma City", a free guide to selecting, planting and maintaining trees in this area, were printed in 1990 at an initial cost of $5,000. Three weeks later, nearly all the booklets were distributed. Another 20,000 copies were printed on the city's presses for $6,000. These booklets will be distributed as part of the city's "Putting Down Roots Program."

Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Greater Oklahoma City

Since 1963, Big Brothers/Big Sisters has been providing one-on-one friendships for school age children from single parent homes. Big Brother and Big Sister volunteers set aside three to five hours a week for their Little Brothers or Sisters. The "Bigs" become adult role models and special friends, providing guidance, encouragement, and opportunities oriented to their "Little's" needs.

Many success stories have resulted from the Big Brothers/Big Sisters program. One girl, overweight and shy, was encouraged by her Big Sister to seek her first summer job last summer. A young man who is now a researcher at St. Jude's Hospital was led away from dropping out of school by his Big Brother. One former Little Brother is now a Big Brother himself.

This year, a grant from the Oklahoma City Community Foundation allowed the expansion of Big Brothers/Big Sisters services into the city's northeast section by hiring a black caseworker. Because of the caseworker's success in recruiting volunteers and children, an additional office is planned for the area. "The contacts and commitments made during this time will benefit the children long after the grant funds are used," said Big Brothers/Big Sisters executive director Jamie Tyson.

This Big Brother and his "Little" do workouts together.

Harn Homestead's Education Curator Sue Schofield-Cole explains how a hayfork works to a class of first graders attending the Territorial Farm Program.

Harn Homestead — Territorial Farm Program

Harn Homestead is a living history museum that teaches children what life was like in Oklahoma at the turn of the century. The Oklahoma City Community Foundation administers a fund designated for Harn Homestead and has made grants to various projects there since 1986, when Harn began operating as a museum.

In the fall of 1990, Harn Homestead applied for a grant to begin a new project called the Territorial Farm Program for children in grades K through 2. Over a two year period, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation will contribute $25,000 as part of its "New Initiatives" grants program.

The farmhouse was full of busy first graders during a recent visit, but there was no monkey business, no squeals, no charging around and knocking over of the butter churn. The mood was one of quiet concentration, as the children learned what it took to run a well equipped farm at the turn of the century. They learned about hayforks and corn shellers, milking a cow and planting an ear of corn. When asked who would like to live in 1904, most of them raised their hands.

They may not be able to live in a bygone era, but they are learning to appreciate it.

Oklahoma County Chapter of the American Red Cross Tissue Services

The Oklahoma County Chapter of the American Red Cross Tissue Services recognized the need for human tissue such as bone and skin in 1984. For a 16-year-old girl who had cancer in her knee, a compatible knee joint means that she might not have to lose her leg.

Currently, Tissue Services supplies tissue in six states and provides 45 per cent of the Red Cross supply of tissue for greater Oklahoma City. The grant from the Oklahoma City Community Foundation will help equip a safe, sterile, centrally located surgical retrieval site that will improve and expand the service that is already being offered.

To ensure that a continuing service to the community will be provided, prospective donors to Tissue Services must communicate their desires with their families.

The headquarters of the Oklahoma County Chapter of the American Red Cross Tissue Services is located at 601 NE 6th Street.

Community Pediatric Program

The Community Pediatric Program is a four-year public-private partnership that began in August 1989 in response to the need for health care for children born to women who received their prenatal care from the Community Prenatal Program for medically indigent and uninsured women. The prenatal program served approximately 47 per cent of all Oklahoma County pregnant women in 1990.

During the first year, 1,200 children were enrolled in the Community Pediatric Program, which consists of a five-member pediatric team that makes the rounds to five different clinics in Oklahoma County, provides routine health care and referrals for non-routine needs. The "Peds Team", as they call themselves, is composed of a pediatrician, social worker, child development specialist, nutritionist, and pediatric nurse.

Major financial support for this project came from the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, other local funding partners, and a matching grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation of $358,914. In addition to its $25,000 contribution to the coalition, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation provided a scholarship for pediatric nurse Roseanne Harley's professional training.

Oklahoma County's program of maternal and child health care has been presented nationally as a model for other communities to follow.

The Pediatric Care Program helps families by helping to care for their children. Pediatric Nurse Rosanne Harley admires one of her tiny patients, closely attended by his mother and sister.

Oklahoma Shakespeare in the Park

Oklahoma Shakespeare in the Park has provided quality theater since the summer of 1985, including some non-Shakespearean plays such as Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest" and Charles Dickens' "David Copperfield." Diversity is one of the gifts that Oklahoma Shakespeare in the Park brings to central Oklahoma.

In addition to presenting large scale productions on stage, the company also is involved in a variety of educational programs. The 1990 grant from the Oklahoma City Community Foundation provided funds for a four-person "Modern Shakespeare" production which toured Oklahoma City area middle and high schools. The Actor Residency Program provides schools with actors who work with students to bring Shakespeare's work to life through the interpreting, understanding, and performing of scenes.

Productions are also brought to communities throughout the state. Next year the schedule includes "As You Like It," "Troilus and Cressida," and "Henry V."

Shakespeare's timeless themes return to Edmond's E.C. Hafer park every summer.

One of the many functions of Travelers' Aid Society of Oklahoma is to help travelers reach their destinations.

Community Council of Central Oklahoma and Travelers' Aid Society of Oklahoma

Arriving in a new city can be an overwhelming experience. This is especially true when you have no money, no job, no home, and no family. The 65-year-old Travelers' Aid Society of Oklahoma is one part of a national network which helps stranded travelers and the homeless.

Homelessness has become more pervasive in recent years because of such factors as de-institutionalization of mental health clients, chronic alcoholism, loss of low income housing to urban renewal, and the difficulty some veterans have reintegrating into society.

Travelers' Aid, along with other agencies, links homeless people with resources such as housing, job finding services, and mental health agencies. The objective is to help them leave the ranks of the homeless permanently.

The case managers who serve Oklahoma City's homeless need ongoing education and a forum that allows them to network with each other. Recognizing this, the Community Council of Central Oklahoma and Travelers' Aid applied for a grant from the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, to hire a person who will see that those needs of case managers for the homeless are met.

Oklahoma City Beautiful

After the apathetic 80's, interest in recycling has begun to explode during the current decade. Grants made by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation and other organizations have helped Oklahoma City Beautiful focus public attention on the recycling needs of our community.

A 1991 grant from the Oklahoma City Community Foundation enabled Oklahoma City Beautiful to fund a position for a Recycling Advocate, with responsibility for organizing and coordinating recycling projects and providing information about recycling. A bimonthly column in the Oklahoman entitled "Your Earth" is one of the informational devices used.

Two recycling projects of Oklahoma City Beautiful are being repeated this year: Project Redirectory, a phone book collection, and Christmas tree recycling, which returns tree mulch to tree donors.

Page 31 of the 1991-92 Yellow Pages gives numbers to call about environmental concerns. A recycling coalition composed of businesses and other organizations is in the discussion stage at this writing. Other projects are in the works to make Oklahoma a cleaner and more beautiful place to live.

This pile of telephone books will be recycled as part of Oklahoma City Beautiful's project called Project Redirectory.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

The Board of Trustees
Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc.
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma

We have audited the accompanying statements of assets, liabilities and fund balance arising from cash transactions of Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc. as of June 30, 1991 and 1990, and the related statements of activity and changes in fund balance arising from cash transactions, and changes in cash balances for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Foundation's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

As described in Note A, these financial statements were prepared on the basis of cash receipts and disbursements, which is a comprehensive basis of accounting other than generally accepted accounting principles.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the assets, liabilities and fund balance arising from cash transactions of Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc. at June 30, 1991 and 1990, and the results of its activities and changes in fund balance arising from cash transactions, and the changes in its cash balances for the years then ended, on the basis of accounting described in Note A.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
OKLAHOMA CITY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION, INC.

June 30, 1991

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc. (the "Foundation") was incorporated December 30, 1968 under the laws of the State of Oklahoma, as a nonprofit organization without capital stock for charitable and educational purposes pertaining to the community of greater Oklahoma City.

NOTE A — SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Basis of Accounting: The Foundation prepares its financial statements on the basis of cash receipts and disbursements; consequently, certain revenues and the related assets are recognized when received rather than when earned, and certain expenses are recognized when paid rather than when the obligation is incurred. The principal differences between this basis and generally accepted accounting principles are due to the methods used to account for donations receivable, accrued interest and dividends, accounts payable and accrued expenses, and distributions payable. The cash basis is used for all instances except purchased interest, which is included as an asset until the income is actually received.

The accompanying financial statements include the assets, liabilities, fund balances and activities of the Foundation and its six affiliated organizations:

Affiliated Organizations	Formed During Year Ended June 30
The William E. and Margaret H. Davis Family Fund of The Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc.	1987
The Complex Affiliated Fund of The Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc.	1988

Affiliated Organizations

Formed During Year
Ended June 30

The Kirkpatrick Center Affiliated Fund of The Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc.	1989
The Kirkpatrick Family Affiliated Fund of The Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc.	1989
The Cowboy Hall of Fame Affiliated Fund of The Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc.	1991
The Oklahoma Air Space Museum Affiliated Fund of The Oklahoma City Community Foundation, Inc.	1991

The affiliated funds are combined with the Foundation in the accompanying financial statements because the Foundation effectively controls the Funds' Board of Trustees and distributions made by the Funds exclusively benefit the charitable and educational purposes of the Foundation.

Donations: Certain donations made to the Foundation have been designated for a particular purpose by the donors. It is the expressed intention of the Foundation to honor the designations of donors; however, the Foundation reserves the power to exercise final control over all funds.

It is the intent of the Foundation to distribute all accrued donations received. Thus, these donations will not become a part of the permanent fund balance.

Investments: Securities and other investments are maintained by local trustee banks in various trust funds and are valued at the lower of aggregate cost or market. The cost basis of donated investment is the fair market value at the date of receipt. Cash equivalent funds are comprised of short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash.

Producing oil and gas properties are amortized based on production and are set of accumulated depletion of $485,194 and $459,973 at June 30, 1991 and 1990, respectively. Non-producing oil and gas interests are not amortized until such time as they become producing.

NOTE C — LONG-TERM DEBT

During 1985, the Foundation received a donation of land and a building with a total estimated fair market value of $225,000. As a requirement of the donation, the Foundation assumed an existing long-term obligation of $10,500. The long-term obligation is payable in annual installments of $1,400 through 1988 and $2,100 thereafter until the final payment in 1991. The final payment was made in May 1991. In addition, interest payments equal to 9.5% of the outstanding principal balance are due semi-annually. Interest costs paid in 1991 and 1990 totaled $200 and $399, respectively.

NOTE D — CONTRIBUTED SERVICES

Several of the Foundation's trustees provide contributions in the form of services performed at no cost. The value of the services is not reflected in these statements since it is not susceptible to objective measurement or valuation.

NOTE E — INCOME TAXES

The Internal Revenue Service has ruled that the Foundation qualifies under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue code and is, therefore, not subject to tax under present income tax laws.

Creating a Fund

MANY PEOPLE WOULD LIKE TO CREATE A FOUNDATION OR TRUST THAT WOULD CONTINUE TO RECOGNIZE THEIR CHARITABLE INTERESTS LONG AFTER THEY ARE GONE.

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation was started to provide all donors, large and small, with a way of creating a permanent, charitable fund which would provide financial support for community activities. Since 1969, the Community Foundation has helped donors and non-profit organizations in their efforts to provide ongoing endowment support as well as flexible charitable funds that can respond to the community's changing needs.

IF YOU WOULD LIKE FOR YOUR CURRENT CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS TO BE AN INVESTMENT IN THE FUTURE AS WELL, YOU ARE INVITED TO USE THE OKLAHOMA CITY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION TO ESTABLISH A FUND TO SUPPORT YOUR CHARITABLE INTERESTS.

A NAME FUND at the Community Foundation is a permanent charitable fund named for the donor or another person the donor wishes to honor or remember. Each year the earnings from the Name Fund are distributed back to support community organizations according to the donor's wishes. The contribution is identified to the recipient organizations by the Name Fund source. A Name Fund creates a perpetual source of contributions toward some charitable goal identified by the donor.

Memorials, established through Name Funds, can provide a lasting tribute to the charitable interests of a special person. The contributions of many donors can be accumulated in one fund and an annual contribution to support a charitable interest can be established.

THE OKLAHOMA CITY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION HAS A VARIETY OF GIVING PROGRAMS TO ASSIST DONORS IN DIRECTING THEIR CHARITABLE INTERESTS.

Name Fund earnings can be used in the following ways:

- FUND FOR OKLAHOMA CITY — This fund makes grants to a wide range of community activities which meet the changing needs of the people of Oklahoma City. Guidelines for these grants are available through the Community Foundation office.
- DESIGNATED ENDOWMENTS — A gift may permanently benefit a specific nonprofit organization. Over two hundred organizations currently receive annual distributions from these endowment contributions.

- RESTRICTED GIVING — A gift may be restricted to support a particular type of charity such as youth programs, arts programs, beautification activities, or research. The Trustees of the Community Foundation administer each Fund according to the Donor's intentions.
- DONOR-ADVISED GIVING — The Trustees of the Community Foundation each year ask the donor for suggestions on how the earnings should be used. This accommodates both the changing interests of the donor and needs of the community.
- SCHOLARSHIPS — The Community Foundation administers a wide variety of scholarship funds which provide financial assistance for higher education, enrichment activities, and vocational training for many who might not otherwise benefit from such opportunities.

THE OKLAHOMA CITY COMMUNITY FOUNDATION IS A VEHICLE THROUGH WHICH PEOPLE WHO WANT TO CONTRIBUTE TO CHARITY CAN DO SO EASILY.

Not only are the maximum charitable tax benefits available for any type of gift, but many other services to donors are available to reduce the legal and financial barriers to certain charitable contributions:

- ESCROW FUNDS — These temporary funds allow donors to make a charitable contribution in one year and the Community Foundation can distribute it later to some charitable purpose. An escrow fund can simplify year-end giving and allow donors to take advantage of particular tax benefits in one year.
- LIFE INCOME TRUST — This is a pooled-income fund that offers the benefits of a deferred gift trust to donors and charities alike. A donor makes a gift to the Life Income Trust but continues to receive the income from the gift during his lifetime. At his death, the gift creates a NAME FUND and supports a charitable purpose specified by the donor.
- AFFILIATED FUNDS — This vehicle provides customized management of private foundation assets and large, non-profit endowment funds.

GIFTS TO THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION CAN BE MADE IN A VARIETY OF WAYS:

- Cash or marketable securities
- Life insurance policies
- Oil and gas royalty interests
- Securities in closely held firms

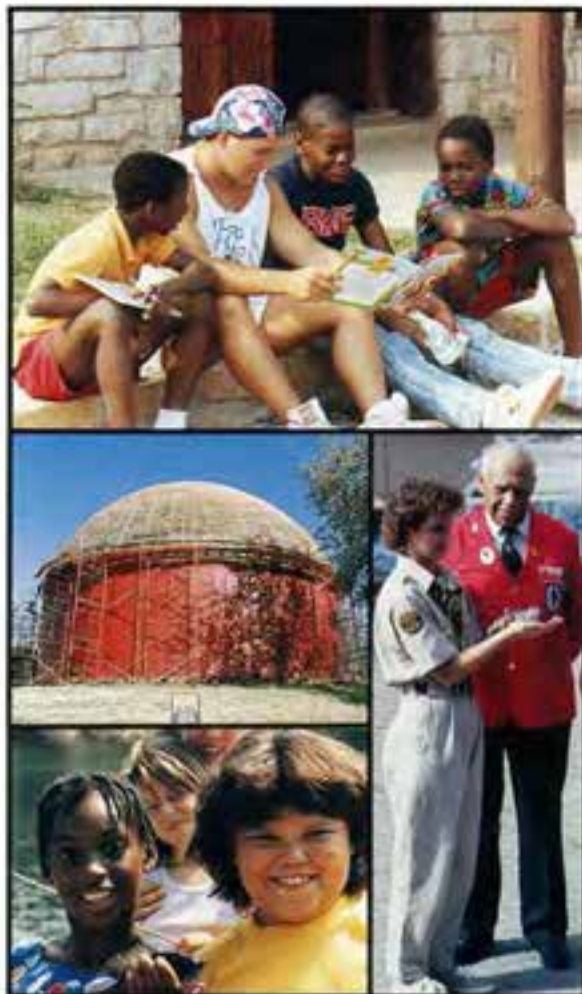

Certain types of real estate or personal property

Gifts can be current or deferred. Bequests, charitable-remainder trusts, and gifts to the Life Income Trusts all provide the donor with current income and create a charitable fund in his name at a later time.

ANYONE WHO CONTRIBUTES TO CHARITY SHOULD CONSIDER MAKING THOSE CONTRIBUTIONS IN A WAY THAT HAS A LASTING BENEFIT TO THE CHARITABLE ORGANIZATION OR INTEREST.

By establishing a permanent fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, you can insure that your charitable interests will always be supported.
