The Power of Endowment

“What we do for ourselves dies with us. What we do for others and the world remains and is immortal.”

Albert Pike (1809-91)

The power of endowment equates to ‘doing for others’ both now and well into the future. Since 1969, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation and its thousands of donors have worked together to ensure that permanent endowment funds will continue to ‘do for others’ both today and forever.

The Power of Endowment

Dear Donors and Friends:

Fiscal Year 2014 was another busy year for the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. We continued to meet current opportunities and needs in central Oklahoma while also looking to the future. Below are highlights from the year.

Long-range Planning

In the fall of 2013, we began gathering data and information as the first steps in a long-range planning process that included hiring the Center for Effective Philanthropy to conduct an independent survey of donors. For those of you that participated in the survey, thank you! Your feedback was vital and useful. Next, we conducted surveys among two key groups: the charitable organizations for whom we administer permanent endowment funds and professional advisors. Ekstrom & Associates was hired to lead staff and Trustees through the planning process. Trustees participated in a two-day retreat in May. The plan was completed over the summer and staff is in the process of finalizing key components, including development and communications plans. Our last long-range plan was conducted in 2009 and this new one will direct the organization through 2019, our 50th anniversary year.

Wellness Initiative

We launched a Wellness Initiative in 2014, but a program focused on health and wellness is not new to us. In 2008, we began encouraging healthy activities with Get Moving OKC! The Wellness Initiative will also encourage and motivate residents to get active, and will support programs and activities that promote exercise and healthy lifestyles. We are partnering with YMCA of Greater Oklahoma City to help promote the 5210 program that encourages children and adults, on a daily basis, to eat five servings of fruit and vegetables, spend two hours or less of screen time, exercise for one hour and not drink any sugary beverages. We're excited about the opportunities to make real impacts over the next few years. See page 53 for more information.

Oklahoma City Parks Plan

Our commitment to ensuring that Oklahoma City public parks are meeting the needs of the community continues. A two-year effort, in partnership with the Oklahoma City Planning Department, resulted in a comprehensive Parks Master Plan that was accepted by the Oklahoma City Council in January 2014. The plan will serve as a guide for both private and public investments. In addition, we have refocused our Parks & Public Space Initiative to support the development of existing public parks so as to better meet the health and recreational needs of citizens in Oklahoma County. We want to encourage the use of the parks for recreation and wellness activities. You can read more about the initiative on page 52.

Investment Performance and Asset Growth

Fiscal Year 2014 was yet another year of growth and activity. We helped donors establish 84 new funds and received total gifts of $33 million while distributing more than $31 million in grants to more than 600 charities. We experienced another strong year of investment performance with results for the general pool at 14.56 percent. We also ended the year with a historically high level of assets, $810 million (unaudited). Our thanks to the Investment Committee members who volunteer their expertise and time. You can see who serves on the committee on page 57.

GiveSmartOKC.org

We are entering the third year of providing GiveSmartOKC.org to central Oklahoma nonprofit organizations and individuals interested in charitable giving. The website is a partnership with GuideStar and we believe it provides a new level of transparency for the nearly 250 nonprofits that have completed profiles, including the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. We have reached a point where we will be able to produce reports on the health of charitable sectors within our community and we look forward to sharing those with you.

New Website

The new and improved OCCF.org website was launched in early 2014. We are pleased to report that the extensive redesign of the website, which includes more than 700 pages, was completed entirely in-house by our communications staff. We improved the navigation and streamlined the content. The website was developed to have a responsive design so it adapts to the device from which it's being viewed – whether personal computers, smartphones or tablets. We are pleased with the new website and encourage you to visit it and let us know what you think.

Thank You and Welcome

We want to thank Jim Clark for his 10 years of service as a Trustee, five of which he also served as Chairman of our Trustee Scholarship Initiative. We also want to welcome our newest Trustee, Scott Spradling. Scott joined our board on July 1, 2014.

We are celebrating our 45th anniversary and we've included historic highlights of this organization on pages 4-5; we hope you enjoy reading them. You'll notice the historical highlights feature donors and their gifts that help to guide our activities today. It is donors like these from the past and those from today and the future that make our efforts have meaning.

45 years of helping you help the community

1969

- Oilman and philanthropist John E. and Eleanor Kirkpatrick and eight fellow community leaders founded the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in 1969. The group was spurred into action by the passage of the national Tax Reform Act of 1969 that imposed new restrictions on private foundations. As a result, the considerable tax advantages of contributing to a public community foundation made sense. Endowment funds created by donors could now provide long-term support for charities, scholarships and a variety of community needs as well as meet the charitable goals of the donors. The Kirkpatricks believed a community foundation would encourage more individuals to create funds to benefit the community.

1970-79

- Florence Ogden Wilson deeded an interest in her family's land then sold it to the state and used the proceeds to establish charitable organization endowment funds for five nonprofit organizations. Her gift was the first designated endowment fund gift. See pages 38-47 for more information.
- E.K. Gaylord, longtime president of the Oklahoma Publishing Company, established the first permanent scholarship fund in 1970. He later left a bequest to support the fund.
- John and Eleanor Kirkpatrick offered the first of the Kirkpatrick Match Challenges that matched funds raised during a defined time period by charitable organizations for their endowment funds. The match raised $740,000 that the Kirkpatricks matched dollar for dollar. The match was in celebration of our 10th anniversary.

Florence Ogden Wilson

1980-89

- Oilman W.T. "Bill" Payne was an astute businessman and philanthropist. Following his death in 1981, we received a bequest from Mr. Payne's estate, the assets of Payne Petroleum that more than doubled the organization's assets.

W.T. "Bill" Payne

- Nancy B. Anthony became the fourth executive director in 1985. When she joined the organization, she was the only full-time employee.

- Following the sale of their food distribution company, William and Margaret Davis, on the advice of their professional advisor, established the first Affiliated Fund in 1987. See page 16 for more on the fund.

Margaret & William Davis

- To help the state celebrate the 100th anniversary of the Land Run of 1889, the Trustees provided grants supporting seven major projects for the Centennial celebration. This initiated a focus on developing new programs.

1990-99

- A $1.3 million bequest from Margaret Annis Boys launched a new focus area in beautification of public land and parks in Oklahoma County. Since 1991, the Margaret Annis Boys Trust has awarded more than $1.5 million in grants. See page 52 for more information.
- In 1992, the Trustees held the organization's first ever long-range planning process to set forth goals for the future. From this meeting the mission statement was developed and the bylaws were changed to increase the number of Trustees from the original nine to 12.
- The After School Options (ASO) Initiative was the first major focus program area initiated by the Trustees in response to a community-wide need for positive activities for youth during non-school hours. For nine years, ASO was a catalyst in bringing together civic, religious and government entities to address the need and create programs that exist today.
- April 19, 1995 is a date of significant impact on our community. Our community's tragedy became the nation's tragedy and contributions of support immediately poured in. Because of an existing relationship with area nonprofit organizations, we were able to take a lead role in the community's response through administering the Oklahoma City Disaster Relief Fund.

Margaret Annis Boys

- In 1998, the Trustee Scholarship Initiative is launched to bring together guidance counselors from high schools in central Oklahoma to enhance their knowledge and resources for their students seeking post-secondary education. The Initiative also awards scholarships through five programs. For more information, see page 51.

2000-14

- Jeanette L. Gamba was elected the first female president of the Board of Trustees. She would serve three consecutive years in that leadership role.

Jeanette L. Gamba

- To address a shortage of qualified nurses for nonprofit hospitals, we established the Nurse Education Program to fund scholarships for nurses employed at the facilities who are seeking certification as a Registered Nurse or a bachelor's degree in nursing science.
- Donor Central, an online reporting system, was added to occf.org in 2003 as a resource for donors with permanent Advised Funds so they can review their fund value and gifts made to the fund as well as recommend grants. In 2004, this service was made available to organizations who are part of the Charitable Organization Endowment Program so staff and board members can view fund activity.
- During a long-range planning session in 2004, the Trustees addressed the need for a new facility to accommodate more services for donors and a growing staff. The property at North Broadway Avenue between North 10th and 9th streets was purchased. A competitive selection process led to hiring an architectural firm.
- Our founder, John E. Kirkpatrick would not live to see the completion of the new facility. He died on Oct. 3, 2006 at the age of 98. He left behind a legacy of generosity and caring that will have an impact on the community for generations.
- In 2007, the staff relocated to the new 18,000-square-foot facility that features nearly 9,000 square feet of public space available for use by charitable organizations and community groups.

- To mark our 40th anniversary in 2009, the Trustees provided support for several key projects including Get Reading Oklahoma, an initiative to assist Oklahoma adults in improving their reading, writing and math skills that aired on OETA for four years.
- The introduction of the iFund Grants Program in 2011 provided an opportunity to help meet community needs in three areas: Access to Health Care, Opportunities for Children and Services for Elderly. See page 49 for more information.
- In 2012, we partnered with GuideStar to make available GiveSmartOKC.org, a comprehensive online resource for the community. See pages 8-9 for more information.
- In 2013, we partnered with Cannon Financial Institute to offer a monthly teleconference series that provides 1.5 hours of continuing education credit for professional advisors. The series, Estate Planning 1.5, averages 50 or more in attendance each month.
- Following the devastating storms that occurred in May 2013, we reactivated the Tornado Recovery Fund first established in response to the May 3, 1999 tornadoes. We received more than 1,750 gifts totaling in excess of $3.4 million. Of that amount, $2.4 million was donated to the Shelter Oklahoma Schools fund established to encourage the construction of storm shelters at Oklahoma schools.
- In January 2014, the Oklahoma City Council accepted the Oklahoma City Parks Master Plan. This culminated a two-year effort of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation and the Oklahoma City Planning Department to develop a comprehensive plan for the public parks system. The plan is serving as a guide for future programs and projects.
- The Wellness Initiative was launched in 2014 to promote the integration of physical activity, good nutrition and other healthy lifestyles choices into the daily routines of children and adults living in Oklahoma County. In addition, the existing Parks & Public Space Initiative was revamped to focus on the development of existing public parks to meet the health and recreational needs of citizens.
- The Trustees and staff participated in a long-range planning process in late 2013 through May 2014. The resulting long-range plan will direct the activities of the organization for the next five years.

Leading by Example

John and Eleanor Kirkpatrick understood the power of endowment and they were both dedicated to improving the quality of life for Oklahoma City residents. The combined effect is an enriched community that has benefitted and will continue to benefit from the Kirkpatricks' thoughtful philanthropy.

The couple started the Kirkpatrick Foundation, a private foundation, in 1955, and began supporting a variety of cultural and education programs that continue today. Their fingerprints are on numerous nonprofit organizations including the Oklahoma City Museum of Art, Lyric Theatre, Science Museum Oklahoma, Ballet Oklahoma and the Oklahoma Zoological Society.

By the late 1960s, the Kirkpatricks began to realize that Oklahoma City needed its own organization that could serve the charitable needs of individuals and organizations. They studied the concept of a community foundation, visited with leaders of community foundations throughout the country and determined to establish the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in 1969 and modeled it after two of the oldest and most respected community foundations, The Cleveland Foundation and the New York Community Trust.

Initially, the Kirkpatricks provided the leadership, contributions and administrative support for the founding of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. The couple understood that the community foundation would broaden the community's base of philanthropy and its success was key to the overall vitality of Oklahoma City. Mr. Kirkpatrick enlisted other community leaders such as Dean McGee and Harvey Everest to participate and provide leadership in the early years.

The Kirkpatrick family's support for the Oklahoma City Community Foundation has extended well beyond their initial gift and leadership. Mr. Kirkpatrick led the Board of Trustees for the first 10 years and, for a number of years, the couple provided support through numerous match opportunities that allowed many nonprofit organizations to build their permanent endowment funds.

After Mr. Kirkpatrick turned over the administrative and governance duties to others, he began to utilize the Oklahoma City Community Foundation for his own philanthropy. The establishment of the permanent endowments for the Kirkpatrick Center and the creation of the Kirkpatrick Family Fund signified two of his lifetime philanthropic efforts and represented a significant charitable commitment to Oklahoma City that he expected to last well beyond his lifetime.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick passed away in 1998 and Mr. Kirkpatrick died in 2006 at the age of 98. Together, they left a substantial financial legacy but more importantly, an even greater personal legacy of generosity and caring. The Kirkpatricks' only child, Joan, provided her leadership for both the Kirkpatrick Foundation and the Kirkpatrick Family Fund. Prior to her death in 2009, she established several endowment funds that continue to benefit the animal welfare organizations she supported during her lifetime. Her son, Christian K. Keesee, continues the family's philanthropic efforts through the private foundation, the Kirkpatrick Family Fund and his own personal giving.

John Kirkpatrick hired Nancy B. Anthony to serve as the top executive of the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in 1985, a position she holds still. She has witnessed firsthand the family's thoughtful approach to charitable giving.

"The legacy of many philanthropists is a building named for them," she says. "The Kirkpatrick legacy, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation, impacts the whole community and will do so in perpetuity."

"They have encompassed and exhibited the highest principles of unselfish and generous concern for the well-being and quality of life for the people of Oklahoma."

From a citation issued by Gov. Henry Bellmon in 1988 proclaiming the week of Feb. 14 the John Elson and Eleanor Blake Kirkpatrick Week.

Ms. Mickey, left, stands with Terry Simmons and Stacey Ninness, president and CEO of Neighborhood Services Organization that operates the Palo Duro residences in Oklahoma City. Palo Duro I and Palo Duro II provide housing for formerly homeless adults who are dealing with a mental illness. Ms. Mickey has been a resident since 2003 when she came to NSO for assistance. During Fiscal Year 2014, Terry recommended a grant from his advised fund to NSO.

Paying It Forward

When Terry Simmons established the CHIP Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation in 2010, his motivation was simple: to help inspire others.

Terry's desire to help inspire others is really about paying it forward. In 1970, as a new college graduate, he moved to Washington D.C. to "change the world." Unable to find a job in journalism, Terry began cleaning offices at night and that's how he met John "Chip" Schrott, a business owner and investor. Chip took an interest in Terry and offered him a job with his holding company that owned several manufacturing companies. Terry would eventually become part owner of Reel-O-Matic Systems, a manufacturer of reeling and coiling equipment. He relocated the company to his hometown of Oklahoma City in 1988. After Chip's death in 2001, Terry purchased the remainder of the company and retired as president and CEO in 2013.

To honor Chip's life and the opportunities he had provided Terry, he made a gift of stock to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to establish an advised fund he aptly named the CHIP Fund. CHIP is an acronym for Chip Inspiring People. In March 2014, Terry recommended significant grants to several charitable organizations including Neighborhood Services Organization. Oklahoma City Community Foundation staff had taken Terry to visit several NSO programs including Palo Duro, a permanent supportive housing program for formerly homeless adults diagnosed with mental illness.

"After visiting the organization's homes for the mentally challenged and homeless families, the door to my heart was opened as well as were my eyes to the truism that all of us need a home, and someone who hears us shout 'I'm home!' as we walk through the front door," Terry explains. "In a way, NSO is the front door people walk through on their journey to changing their lives."

Terry's support of NSO allows the organization to provide people like Ms. Mickey a place to call home. When Mickey came to NSO in 2003, she owned nothing but a few items of clothing. Today, she lives at Palo Duro I where she has a fully furnished apartment, clothes, food, access to medical care and is surrounded by people who care for her. Mickey is so happy to have a home of her own, she says she will live at Palo Duro I "until her dying day."

"Without gifts from people like Terry, NSO wouldn't be able to help homeless individuals suffering from mental illness find a place to call home," says Stacey Ninness, president and CEO of NSO. "Donations to NSO have a real impact. Without our donors we would not have been able to provide housing and health services to more than 72,000 people last year. Terry's passion to help nonprofits like NSO makes a difference not only for our organization but for the community."

Terry believes the possibilities of helping individuals live meaningful and purpose-driven lives through his Advised Fund are endless.

"I guess one could call the Oklahoma City Community Foundation the one-stop shopping place when seeking where to make that perfect investment in mankind," he adds. "My hope is that everyone's contributions, whether financial or by other methods of support, provides greater hope to the hopeless, encourages the discouraged and inspires all of us as fellow men and women to reach the potential of being all we can be for one another that our creator intended."

Special Donor Funds

Special Donor Funds are permanent endowments established by families and individuals who have made a significant charitable commitment through their gifts to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. The donors listed on pages 12-15 have reached the Special Donors designation because their cumulative gifts are in excess of $500,000 and are made to permanent endowment funds administered by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation.

Oklahoma City Jewish Community Foundation: Helping to Bring a Community Back Together

The idea of “community” can mean different things to different people. For some, it may be the neighborhood in which they live and for others, it is the church they attend. For many residents of Moore, Okla., their sense of community was undone when a tornado devastated the area in May 2013, taking with it many neighborhoods, businesses and schools that had served as local gathering places.

The football stadium at Central Junior High School was one of the most prominent landmarks that was badly damaged in the storms. The 50-year-old facility has long been a gathering place where generations of students participated in events ranging from football games to Civil War reenactments. Thanks to a $900,018 grant from the Jewish Federation of Oklahoma City that helped rebuild and upgrade the stadium and related facilities, the Moore community can once again come together and unite behind their sense of school pride.

Edie Roodman, executive director of the Jewish Federation of Oklahoma City, says the grant amount of $900,018 was significant because the number 18 symbolizes “life” in the Hebrew language, and in the Jewish faith gifts in increments of $18 bring blessings.

When deciding where to grant the tornado relief funds that were contributed from Jewish communities throughout the United States, Roodman says the Jewish Federation recognized the significance of the stadium within the community.

“This particular facility is the heartbeat of the district, and I think really more than that the heartbeat of Moore in general,” she says. “I think that it certainly underscores ‘Moore Strong’ and the Jewish Federation is extremely honored to have such a meaningful partnership.”

The stadium was completed in September 2014, just days before the first football game of the season. For Moore resident Shirley Noel, the renovated stadium offered a unique opportunity as her son scored the first touchdown for the Central Junior High Cubs.

“This is the first time he’s ever played in this type of facility,” says Noel. “He’s loving it.”

In 1999, the Jewish Federation of Greater Oklahoma City transferred a number of funds to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation that make up the Oklahoma City Jewish Community Foundation. Earnings from these endowments provide support for the organization’s programs and activities.

Paul & Leigh Ann Albers: Making a Difference in Children's Lives

A cochlear implant is opening up a whole new world full of sounds for 13-month-old Karter, a bright and curious little boy. And Leigh Ann Albers understands what Karter is experiencing. Her sister Karen lost her hearing at a very young age and wore hearing aids and learned to lip read until, at the age of 34, she received a cochlear implant.

"That happened about 27 years ago and, at the time, it was fairly new technology," Leigh Ann says. "She heard sounds that she'd never heard before! I regret that this technology was not available to her as a toddler because I have seen what an amazing difference it makes in children's lives, to receive the gift of hearing at a very early age."

In 2014, Leigh Ann and her husband, Paul, recommended a grant from their Affiliated Fund to the Hearts for Hearing Foundation "because they make an enormous difference in a child's life that lasts a lifetime."

Established in 2003, Hearts for Hearing Foundation was founded to provide funding for the initial set of hearing aids for Oklahoma children who are deaf or hard of hearing and to provide audiological services and therapy. As the need grew and more and more families became aware of the services, Hearts for Hearing expanded its mission in 2007 to become a provider of comprehensive hearing health care for both children and adults. The organization is also engaged in research related to the improvement of hearing technology and is in a capital campaign to build a larger facility to accommodate its services.

"We are most grateful for the Albers' generous gift," says executive director and founder Joanna Smith, M.S. CCC-SLP, LSLC Cert. AVT. "Their support will make it possible for more deaf babies in Oklahoma like Karter to have the opportunity to learn, to listen and to talk."

In Memoriam

Kyrstan Glasco, a 2010 Coalgate High School graduate, with Carolyn Watson in 2011. Kyrstan received the Carolyn Watson Opportunities Scholarship for four consecutive years and is set to graduate from Southeastern Oklahoma State University in May 2015.

Carolyn Watson: Making a Difference in Rural Oklahoma

Carolyn Watson was a woman of action and understood the value of blessing others with the gifts she was given. The longtime chair and CEO of Shamrock Bancshares wanted to improve the quality of life for the residents living in the rural southern Oklahoma communities where her banks are located. Born in Ada, Okla., and a graduate of East Central University, Carolyn knew well where the needs and opportunities existed. In 1995, she established an Affiliated Fund endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to do just that. Initially, she wanted to remain anonymous so the focus would be on the programs the grants were supporting. As a result, the fund was named the Rural Oklahoma Community Foundation. Carolyn's name was added to the fund in 2013. Since its inception, more than $800,000 in grants made through the permanent endowment fund have provided for improvements to firefighting equipment, teaching enhancements for classrooms and public libraries and scholarships for teachers seeking continuing education.

While these grants have certainly benefited the communities, Carolyn also wanted to help individual students graduating from Oklahoma's rural high schools. In 2010, she established the Carolyn Watson Opportunities Scholarship that offers an award of up to $10,000 per academic year to five eligible graduating high school seniors who want to attend college but may not be able to afford it. To qualify, students must attend high school in one of 62 rural Oklahoma counties, have financial need and have demonstrated academic ability based upon a minimum grade point average of 3.25. Recipients may renew the scholarship each year for up to four academic years as long as they maintain a 3.0 grade point average. Students must be nominated by a teacher or community leader and demonstrate exceptional accomplishments outside of the normal classroom environment. To date, 25 students have received the scholarship.

Carolyn died on March 17, 2014 at the age of 86. She leaves behind a truly meaningful legacy that will benefit future generations of rural Oklahomans.

Nancy Cheek

Originally from Ardmore, Nancy Cheek was a lifelong resident of Oklahoma. In 1944, she graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a degree in accounting. While attending OU, she met John Cheek and they were married in 1946. The couple lived in Oklahoma City where John established a law firm with his two brothers and practiced civil law for 55 years.

Nancy and John enjoyed traveling the world, visiting six continents during their many adventures. They had four children and Nancy delighted in participating in her family's activities through the Oklahoma Bar Association Auxiliary, various parent teacher associations, Camp Fire and Cub Scouts.

A member of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Nancy was ordained as both a Deacon and an Elder. She enjoyed serving her church by volunteering for the women's club and Westminster School. She was also active in a number of civic organizations including Big Brothers Big Sisters of Oklahoma, YWCA Oklahoma City, Oklahoma School of Science and Mathematics and Pi Beta Phi Alumnae Club.

Nancy and John were longtime donors to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Following John's death in 2010, Nancy continued to make regular gifts in honor of her parents Earl and Lucille Gray to support various medical causes including Parkinson's disease and arthritis research. Nancy died in June 2014.

"She was one of our greatest advocates in the community," says Nancy B. Anthony, Oklahoma City Community Foundation president.

Steve Garrett

Steve Garrett was a war hero, a loving husband and father and an effective civic leader. A 1944 graduate of Mangum High School, Steve earned a bachelor's degree from the University of Oklahoma and his juris doctorate degree from Oklahoma City University. He served as a captain in the U.S. Army and was a helicopter pilot during the Vietnam War from 1968-1972, receiving more than 10 medals including the Bronze Star and the Army Commendation Medal. Following his service, Steve began a career in the insurance industry with jobs initially in Oklahoma City then on to Philadelphia and Atlanta before returning back to Oklahoma City in 1981 when he joined American Fidelity Corp. This was the start of a 32-year career with the company. Steve was passionate about giving back to his community and that was evident in his service as a trustee at Oklahoma City University, various leadership roles with Rotary Club 29, Salvation Army and the Oklahoma Symphony Orchestra boards. Steve died in 2013 at the age of 69, leaving behind his wife of 47 years, Linda, three grown children and their families. He also left a legacy of giving back.

Aidan Hooper

Aidan Hooper touched many lives in his eight years. He lived his life with enthusiasm and always had a smile on his face, bringing joy to those around him. His parents say he had a unique ability to engage young and old in heartfelt conversations, frequently offering a spontaneous word of thanks and a handshake to members of the military.

In 2013, Aidan died at the age of eight in a tragic accident. Following his death, his family established the Aidan Hooper Legacy Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to honor his kind and generous spirit.

“We established the Aidan Hooper Legacy Fund to help channel our efforts toward making something good out of something terrible,” says Aidan’s mother, Susannah Hooper. “It is our intention to support organizations that will honor Aidan’s zeal for life and generous heart.”

PAMBE Ghana is a nonprofit organization committed to educational opportunities for boys and girls in northern Ghana. PAMBE Ghana was founded by Alice Iddi-Gubbels, a Ghanaian citizen and former Westminster School teacher and Oklahoma City University graduate. Inspired to improve the quality of the Ghanaian Education System, PAMBE Ghana launched in 2008 the La'Angum Learning Center, it's a model school that serves one of the poorest areas of rural Ghana.

Doli Mathews

Doli Mathews is passionate about supporting programs that serve the underprivileged. Born in Highland, Ill., Doli started her career as a registered nurse before earning a master's degree in public health from the University of Oklahoma. She initially worked as a psychiatric nurse therapist at St. Anthony Hospital and later served as the associate director of NorthCare before retiring in 1998.

Doli Mathews

Together with her husband, Judge Eugene Mathews, the couple raised five daughters. They were both active in the civil rights movement in the 1960s and remained committed to causes that helped those who suffered discrimination or injustice. In 1999, the couple established a permanent endowment fund for the benefit of Legal Aid Services of Oklahoma, a nonprofit law firm that assists low-income individuals and seniors who are facing civil legal problems. Following her husband's death in 2005, Doli directed a gift from her IRA to the endowment fund. She established her own advised fund in 2014 and has recommended grants from it to PAMBE Ghana and other charitable organizations. Sharing what she has with others is important to Doli.

"The Oklahoma City Community Foundation offers the perfect vehicle to do this," she adds. "It's caring, efficient and yet transparent and is a model of what can be done when individuals and the community work together. I'm proud to be a part of this."

The James H. & Madalynne Norick Foundation

James and Madalynne Norick are true community leaders. Through decades of public service, civic engagement and philanthropy, they have helped make Oklahoma City the thriving community it is today.

During two terms as Oklahoma City mayor, James Norick led an annexation campaign that increased the metropolitan area from approximately 90 to 600 square miles, making it the world's largest city by land area for many years. He was also instrumental in the improvement of the city's water supply infrastructure, the creation of the Oklahoma City Urban Renewal Authority to lead the revitalization of the city's urban neighborhoods and several beautification projects including the improvement of Classen Boulevard.

Madalynne was also well known for her civic leadership and philanthropy, with service to the American Red Cross dating back to 1957. She assisted with many disaster relief efforts including working at the American Red Cross headquarters in Washington, D.C., in 1968 during the riots following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. In 2006, Madalynne received the Lifetime Hero Award from the American Red Cross of Central Oklahoma.

An accomplished artist, Madalynne helped to establish the Norick Art Center at Oklahoma City University, and used the proceeds from her art shows to provide scholarships for art students.

Madalynne died in 2009, but her family continued her philanthropic legacy. In 2013, they transferred the assets of a private foundation to establish an advised fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation that will continue to support the couple's charitable interests.

Gail Beals, right, assists artist Don Narcomey with the unveiling of the Storyteller Chair at the Children's Garden at the Myriad Gardens in September 2013.

O.K. Detrick Foundation

A grant from the O.K. Detrick Foundation fund brought a unique and enchanting addition to the Children's Garden at the Myriad Gardens. The Storyteller Chair was handcrafted by Oklahoma City artist Don Narcomey and dedicated in the fall of 2013. Gail Kendall Beals, granddaughter of O.K. Detrick, recommended the grant in memory of her mother, the only child of Mr. Detrick and his wife Della. The plaque on the chair reads "In loving memory of Dorothy Detrick Kendall who found great joy in gardening, reading and children." The chair is made from sections of Osage orange wood and it took the artist months to carve, fill, fit and finish the chair.

O.K. Detrick moved his family from Indiana to Okmulgee, Okla., in 1918. He was attracted to the area by the oil boom and through hard work and grit he became a successful independent oil operator. A kind, generous and thoughtful man, in his will Mr. Detrick set aside a group of oil properties to establish the O.K. Detrick Foundation, a private foundation that funded educational and charitable purposes. In 1978, Mr. Detrick's family transferred the assets to the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to establish the O.K. Detrick Foundation Fund, an advised fund through which his granddaughter continues the family's legacy of giving back to the community.

"My grandfather was a true caretaker at heart who quietly helped many throughout his lifetime," says Gail Beals. "Through vision and foresight, coupled with his deep sense of charity, he established a private family foundation in his will, so that his heirs could continue his legacy by making gifts to charitable purposes of their own choosing."

In Memoriam

Don Bown

During 1991-98, Don Bown served as city manager of Oklahoma City and helped to guide the city through exciting and tumultuous times. He was at the helm when the voters approved the Metropolitan Area Projects (MAPS) program and he provided leadership following the April 19, 1995 bombing of the Alfred P. Murrah Federal Building, coordinating efforts between the city, state and federal governments.

Don began his career in municipal government when he became the assistant city manager for Springfield, Mo. From there, he moved on to become the first city manager for Seminole, Okla., and then Bartlesville, Okla. In 1976, Don was named the executive director of the Oklahoma Crime Commission before leaving to assume the role of city manager of Oklahoma City.

In addition to his career, Don was also involved in various civic and arts activities, most notably the Ambassadors Concert Choir for whom he served as chairman of the nonprofit's board for many years. Following his death in November of 2013, a memorial fund was established and it will benefit the endowment fund for the nonprofit organization.

Major Donors

Major Donors have made cumulative gifts between $1,000 and $10,000 to permanent endowment funds and nonpermanent funds and made a gift or gifts during the fiscal year ending June 30, 2014. Major Donors who have made gifts in prior years are listed on pages 62-64.

Dr. Raniyah Ramadan Foundation

Dr. Raniyah Ramadan's passion for science began at an early age. A junior high science fair project studying rabbits and their eye color would turn into a lifelong pursuit of ophthalmologic research.

After graduating from Ada High School, Raniyah attended the University of Oklahoma where she earned a bachelor's degree in science and a master's degree in public health. In 2007, she graduated from the OU Health Sciences Center with a doctorate in neuroscience and was awarded a prestigious postdoctoral fellowship in ophthalmology at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, Ohio.

In 2009, Dr. Ramadan was living in Manhattan, New York, and fulfilling her vision of neuro-ophthalmology research in a lab she designed at Regeneron Pharmaceuticals when she was diagnosed with cancer. Through her work at Regeneron, she initiated the protocol for animal models of ocular inflammatory diseases that affect more than two million people worldwide. Following her death in 2011, her family established the Dr. Raniyah Ramadan Foundation Fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to continue her passion for science and research.

The endowment supports education and research in the health sciences through scholarships, symposiums and internship programs. In addition, the fund will provide support for a research facility at East Central University in Ada to be named the Dr. Raniyah Ramadan Center for Undergraduate Research and Learning. The center will include two undergraduate research labs for biology and one each for chemistry, environmental health science and psychology.

Advised Funds

An Advised Fund is the simplest and most flexible way for you to accomplish your charitable goals. An Advised Fund can be established with cash or other assets such as the residual beneficiary of a trust, life insurance policy, charitable gift annuity or retirement account. For donors who establish permanent Advised Funds, the ability to recommend charitable grants can be carried on by family members thus creating a charitable legacy. We offer three Advised Fund options described below:

legacyfund

A Legacy Fund is the best alternative for families or an individual who may be considering establishing a private foundation or want to create a lasting legacy with a current or planned gift. With a required minimum balance of $10,000, a Legacy Fund offers both our proven investment management as well as the handling of all required reporting and administrative details. Additional benefits include:

- It's a permanent endowment with an annual spendable amount.
- Low competitive fees.
- The spendable balance allows for grants to be recommended at any time to any charitable organization within the United States.
- Donor has online access to fund and grant reports and can also make grant recommendations online.
- Anonymous grant making is available.
- Favorable tax treatment compared to private foundations.
- An expert staff is available to advise and provide all administrative support.

A Gift Fund is ideal for the individual who wants investment performance but desires the ability to distribute the total gift to charity. Established with a minimum of $10,000, a Gift Fund is a more effective alternative to commercial gift funds. Additional benefits include:

- Fund balance is completely spendable.
- Low competitive fees.
- Grants can be recommended at any time to any charitable organization.
- Donor has online access to fund and grant reports and can also make grant recommendations online.
- Anonymous grant making is available.
- Favorable tax treatment compared to private foundations.
- An expert staff is available to advise and provide all administrative support.

expressfund

The Express Fund is a perfect vehicle for individuals who want to make a year-end gift of cash, appreciated stock or another non-cash asset to benefit one or more charities. An Express Fund can be established with a minimum of $1,000 and offers the following benefits:

- Fund balance is completely spendable.
- No investment earnings are allocated to the fund.
- A fee of up to 1 percent is charged on contributions at the time of the gift.
- Grants can be recommended at any time to any charitable organization.
- Fund balance reports are available.
- Anonymous grant making is available.

Advised Funds: By the Numbers in FY2014

total to 506 advised funds.

2,085 grants that impacted more than 600 charitable organizations.

Top: Members and staff of the Boys & Girls Club at Cesar Chavez Elementary School in south Oklahoma City enjoy a visit from Rumble. A $500,000 multi-year advised fund grant from the Ken and Gae Rees Family Fund allowed the Boys & Girls Club of Oklahoma County to open the new club in January 2014. Right: Ken and Gae Rees and their daughter Susan Wright, a middle school teacher in Chicago, visited the Cesar Chavez club soon after it opened.

Addressing Generational Poverty

Prior to joining the Boys & Girls Club at Cesar Chavez Elementary School, Jissel R. was in danger of repeating third grade. Her math and reading skills were low and she was failing in multiple subjects. With help from an educational specialist that works with the club members, Jissel has discovered a passion for math and is now on the mark to become a fourth grader.

The Boys & Girls Club at Cesar Chavez Elementary School in south Oklahoma City exists thanks to a multi-year $500,000 grant from the Ken & Gae Rees Family Fund. With help from our staff, the Rees family invited nonprofit organizations that provide direct services for children and families who have lived in poverty for at least two generations to apply for the grant. The family's objective with the grant is to help to begin breaking the cycle of generational poverty. The expansion of a Boys & Girls Club site in south Oklahoma City that was partnering with a school where 97 percent of its students received free or reduced lunches appealed to the Rees family.

"We are happy to be instrumental in the opening of a new Boys & Girls Club that is starting to have a real impact in an underserved community in south Oklahoma City," says Ken Rees.

Jane Sutter says Cesar Chavez Elementary School is an ideal location as there are very few afterschool options for the students who attend and is a model that can be replicated elsewhere. She is the president and executive director of the Boys & Girls Club of Oklahoma County.

The Cesar Chavez club opened in January 2014 and has grown to include 90 members. The members benefit from daily homework assistance as well as physical activities and a healthy snack. The club is tracking attendance and grade records of members to begin evaluating the impact of its program.

A mother chooses among fresh produce while shopping at the Urban Mission Food Resource Center. The center opened in 2012 and is a partnership between Urban Mission and the Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma.

Since 1972, the Urban Mission has provided food, school supplies and other services for disadvantaged Oklahomans. In 2012, the organization partnered with the Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma to open the first of six Food Resource Centers in the state. The Urban Mission Food Resource Center allows families to shop for groceries rather than receiving pre-packaged boxes of food. The center provides fresh produce, canned and frozen foods and hygiene items in a grocery store-type setting at its warehouse near Northwest 36th Street and Portland Avenue. Regional Food Bank of Oklahoma executive director Rodney Bivens says that allowing families to choose their own food helps to reduce waste and offers individuals more control over their diet, allowing them dignity in a difficult situation.

Helping Those Less Fortunate

Thinking of others first was a practice Frederick “Fritz” Kate learned from his mother. Patti Kate says her father grew up during the era of the Great Depression and while their family never had a lot of money, they were always happy to share what they had.

“My grandmother would never turn anyone away and my father learned to live his life by the principle of helping those less fortunate,” says Patti.

Natives of Ohio, Mr. Kate graduated from Ohio State University with a geology degree and Mrs. Kate graduated from Kent State University. Childhood sweethearts, the couple married in 1940.

Mr. Kate began his career as a petroleum geologist for Shell Oil Co. in Illinois before they were relocated to Oklahoma in 1943.

The Kates and their two children made their home in Oklahoma City and quickly became active in the community. Mr. Kate was a founding member of the Northwest Presbyterian Church (now Church of the Savior), where Mrs. Kate taught Sunday school for many years.

In 1998, the couple began making regular gifts from their private foundation to the charitable organization endowment fund at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation that benefits the Urban Mission, a nonprofit organization that helps Oklahoma City area families in need. Mr. Kate died in 2003 and Mrs. Kate in 2011, but their family continues to make annual gifts to the endowment.

“We are extremely grateful for the Kate family’s continued support over the years as our programs have expanded and needs have changed,” says Peggy Garrett, executive director of the Urban Mission. “It is often a challenge for nonprofits to find funding for day-to-day operations, as well as building an endowment for future needs, but the Kate Family has always been generous enough to do both which has had a huge impact on our agency and the number of families we are able to serve each day.”

An Arts After School program participant creates a masterpiece

Arts Council of Oklahoma City

Founded in 1967, the Arts Council of Oklahoma City has grown to present popular annual events such as the Festival of the Arts and Opening Night. Other programs include the Sunday Twilight Concert Series at the Myriad Gardens and the Oklahoma City Storytelling Festival. The organization also works to bring the arts to underserved youth and adults. Through its Arts After School program, the council provides arts enrichment activities at several Oklahoma City elementary schools, the YMCA and the Boys & Girls Club of Oklahoma County. The program matches professional teaching artists with a site who then are "in residence" at that site for two hours twice a week per semester. There are no costs to the schools or the students who participate. Recent classes include dance and movement, creative writing, watercolor, hip-hop dancing and painting.

The Arts Council of Oklahoma City has a profile at GiveSmartOKC.org and the organization received a $500 grant for winning the top social media promoter with annual income of more than $1 million during the Pump Up Your Profile contest. Visit their profile at GiveSmartOKC.org.

Oklahoma Visual Arts Coalition

Established in 1988, Oklahoma Visual Arts Coalition helps Oklahoma artists realize their potential through education, exposure and funding.

Annually, OVAC serves more than 1,700 artists and connects audiences of more than 19,000 to art and artists. The organization offers artists professional development, workshops, project funding, information resources and career-boosting awards and recognition. OVAC also helps the audiences understand the ideas behind the artwork through exhibitions, open studios, an online gallery and a bi-monthly magazine, Art Focus. Education programs such as the Artist Survival Kit, assist artists in advancing their business skills while promising writers participating in Oklahoma Art Writing & Curatorial Fellowship get help expanding their professional education and experience.

OVAC established its Charitable Organization Endowment in 1998 and for several years the organization reinvested its annual distribution to help build the endowment. Learn more about OVAC through its profile at GiveSmartOKC.org or at its website www.OVAC-OK.org. OVAC was one of six winners of the GiveSmartOKC contest, Pump Up Your Profile. The organization won a $500 grant in the category Top Social Media Promoter for organizations with less than $1 million in annual income.

Dr. Priya Samant discusses a patient's case history during an exam at Healing Hands Clinic. The clinic provides primary health care and case management services for Oklahoma County's homeless of all ages.

Community Health Centers

In 1973, five pioneering women from the Parker's Heights neighborhood joined forces to help establish a nonprofit comprehensive primary health care facility to serve northeast Oklahoma County. Named after the first black professional nurse in the United States, the Mary Mahoney Memorial Health Center continues to provide quality health care for low-income and uninsured patients. Located at 12716 NE 36th St., the health care facility is sponsored by Community Health Centers and provides services at sliding scale fees based on family size and income.

Community Health Centers operates additional health care facilities at seven locations throughout the state, including a free clinic for homeless individuals at 411 NW 11th St. in Oklahoma City's Midtown district. Healing Hands Health Care Services for the Homeless works collaboratively with homeless shelters, the Oklahoma State Department of Health and the Oklahoma City-County Health Department to provide primary health care and case management services for Oklahoma County's homeless of all ages. In 2013, the clinic served more than 2,200 homeless patients.

Jeanette Sias

Jeannette Sias loved music. Whether it was a choir, a philharmonic performance or a soloist, she was a lifelong fan of all things musical. It was fitting that following her death in April 2014, her family established the Jeannette Sias Music Scholarship for Oklahoma City University and encouraged memorial gifts to the fund. It is also fitting that the scholarship benefits OCU, for she had served on the university's board and was the recipient of the OCU Servant Leader Award in 2009.

An Oklahoma City native, Jeannette earned her bachelor's degree in speech therapy from Oklahoma State University and a master's degree in speech from Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill. She worked as a speech therapist for a number of Oklahoma City schools and would later volunteer her services to several schools. Her love of music was evident in her support for both the Oklahoma City Philharmonic and KCSC Radio and service on both boards. She also was a member of the Ladies Music Club, Oklahoma City Orchestra League and Allied Arts. Jeannette worked tirelessly through her life to improve and sustain the fine, performing and culinary arts, education, the Nichols Hills United Methodist Church and countless humanitarian programs and causes.

In 2009, together with her husband, Dick, the couple was inducted into the Oklahoma Higher Education Hall of Fame for "a lifetime spent in lifting the culture of Oklahoma to a higher level than they found it." No truer words.

KIRKPATRICK FAMILY FUND

The Kirkpatrick family's leadership is demonstrated through its business, civic and philanthropic presence in central Oklahoma. John and Eleanor Kirkpatrick established the Kirkpatrick Family Fund in 1989 and since its inception the fund has distributed almost $70 million to qualified nonprofits. Under the leadership of their grandson, Christian Keese, the Kirkpatrick Family Fund continues to honor this philanthropic legacy.

The Kirkpatricks believed that Oklahoma City would not be truly prosperous without a strong cultural and social service community. While their leadership is readily identified with many of Oklahoma City's cultural assets they also believed it was necessary to support efforts that improve education and health for all ages, strengthen families and address the most pressing social issues in central Oklahoma.

The Kirkpatrick Family Fund recognizes teen pregnancy as an important social, health and economic issue. Children born to a teen parent are at higher risk for persistent poverty, abuse and neglect, health and mental health issues and problems in school. Oklahoma has the second highest teen birth rate for 15 -19 year olds in the United States and one out of every five teen births in the state is in Oklahoma County. Estimates from the National Campaign to Prevent Teen and Unplanned Pregnancy identify the public cost of teen pregnancy in Oklahoma County to be at least $40 million a year. For these reasons the Kirkpatrick Family Fund has provided significant leadership and financial support to reduce the teen birth rate in Oklahoma County. Initiatives funded by the Kirkpatrick Family Fund have lent support to the broader public/private effort, which has resulted in lowering the birth rate for teens ages 15 -19, between 2006 to 2013, by 22% in Oklahoma County. This reduction for Oklahoma County is substantial, however, a significant decline in births to teens will be necessary in order to move Oklahoma away from becoming the state with the highest (worst) rate of teen births in the United States. To do this it will require a sustained and comprehensive approach.

In Fiscal Year 2014 the Kirkpatrick Family Fund worked along side its partners Oklahoma Institute for Child Advocacy, Variety Care, Teen emPower and Planned Parenthood of Central Oklahoma to form the Adolescent Health/Teen Pregnancy Prevention Work Group under the Wellness Now Coalition of the Oklahoma City County Health Department. This public/private partnership is committed to the aggressive reduction of the teen birth rate in Oklahoma County using evidence-based solutions and building a community-wide effort that supports the health and well being of teens in our community.

The Kirkpatrick Family Fund has focused significant time and resources to address the reduction of teen pregnancy and at the same time it has remained responsive to the many social and cultural needs in central Oklahoma. In Fiscal Year 2014, the Fund distributed 139 grants totaling $6,515,400 to organizations and endowment funds. Community Programs

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation seeks to provide leadership on community issues and collaborate with partner organizations to improve the quality of life in central Oklahoma through our various Community Programs. In Fiscal Year 2014, our Community Programs included the following focus areas: Charitable Organization Endowment Program, Trustee Scholarship Initiative, Margaret Annis Boys Trust/ Parks & Public Space Initiative and our new Wellness Initiative. The iFund Program also provides operating support to charities addressing community opportunities. Committees made up of Trustees and community volunteers help to direct the activities of each these programs. For a list of the Fiscal Year 2014 committees, see page 57.

Fund For Oklahoma City

Oklahoma City Community Foundation Trustees are able to respond to opportunities and issues within central Oklahoma through the Fund For Oklahoma City. This discretionary fund also serves as the primary support for all Community Program activities and grants. Annual allocations from the Fund for Oklahoma City provide staff support for Community Program initiatives and supplemental resources for all grant programs.

Charitable Organization Endowment Program

The Oklahoma City Community Foundation provides a variety of services and resources to the 320 participants in our Charitable Organization Endowment program (see complete list of funds on pages 36-42). We offer program participants opportunities to strengthen and add value to their organizations, as well as grow their endowment funds through the following services:

Fund Management and Administration - We process all gifts and gift acknowledgements and provide each organization with an annual report of their fund(s) including gifts, distributions and investment performance. In addition, organizations are provided with a customized notebook with program policies and fund agreements.

Development, Communications and Training - We promote all endowment funds through publications and our website. Organizations also receive our monthly E News featuring timely articles on nonprofit topics, and we offer free seminars on planned giving and other charitable issues.

GiveSmartOKC.org - The website is a powerful online resource designed to encourage informed charitable giving in central Oklahoma. See more on pages 8-9.

Lunch for 2 - In partnership with Cole & Reed, P.C., we offer a free workshop for CPAs that work with charitable organizations. The quarterly luncheon provides two hours of continuing education credits.

Central Oklahoma Charities - Each program participant is featured on our online directory at occf.org/CentralOklahomaCharities with an individual web page that includes contact information, website links and a link to make an online gift to the organization's endowment.

Donor Central - Participants have 24-7 access to an online fund reporting service at occf.org/DonorCentral that provides endowment fund balances, gift and annual distribution history and quarterly investment performance.

The Toolkit - The online toolkit at occf.org/toolkit features resources to help organizations build and promote their endowment funds.

Planned Giving Services - We work with organizations and their donors to facilitate a variety of planned gifts that will benefit their endowment funds. In addition, program participants can utilize our online planned giving resource LegacyGiving at OCCFLegacy.org.

Online Giving - Charitable organizations can provide donors with the opportunity to make a secure, online gift to their endowment fund using any major credit card at occf.org/OnlineGiving.

For more information about the Charitable Organization Endowment Program, please contact Gayle Farley at g.farley@occf.org or 405/606-2910 or Kenneth Conklin at k.conklin@occf.org or 405/606-2926.

Several Peppers Ranch residents stand next to a project available through the Equest2Read program, funded in part by an Opportunities for Children iFund grant. The program is a reading and literacy program designed to motivate children to develop a love for reading with hands-on interaction and education through horses. Peppers Ranch is home to 75 children with the vast majority being foster children who have been victims of abuse and neglect and an environment that put little emphasis on education. Including horses as part of the literacy and reading program helps to break down barriers and develop trust that can overcome fear and aggression thus inspiring productive behavior.

iFund Grant Program

Launched in 2011, the iFund Grant Program allowed the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to more effectively use funding from several Field of Interest Funds and meet immediate needs and opportunities within the community. Initial funding for the program was derived from built-up earnings in endowment funds that could no longer be used for their original purposes. The program has continued with support from the Fund for Oklahoma City providing a significant supplement to the original sources. Through four annual grant cycles, the iFund grant program awarded 100 grants for a total impact of more than $1.8 million. Grants awarded in Fiscal Year 2014 are listed on page 54.

Each of the programs will be reviewed and guidelines updated to meet current community needs. Below is an overview of the three focus areas since 2011 through December 2013:

Access to Health Care

This focus area supported organizations and programs that provided basic and preventive health care including mental health and dental care to individuals who would not otherwise have access to these services. In all, 26 grants were made to 30 charitable organizations. Programs supported included several free clinics serving clients with diabetes and heart disease, a free breast and cervical cancer screening and education program and dental care for veterans and formerly incarcerated women.

Opportunities for Children

Grants awarded through this focus area supported programs that provided access to mainstream opportunities in spite of physical, mental or economic circumstances for children from birth to age 14. Grants supported a range of activities and programs including after school and summer programs, dance education programs at underserved elementary schools, tutoring programs and specialized formula for premature babies.

Services for the Elderly

Grants supported programs that help to keep senior citizens safe and living independently in their own residences. Grants awarded through this focus area ranged from providing free legal services, vision rehabilitation for seniors with vision loss, heating and cooling repairs for low-income and homebound residents and meal delivery for the homebound. Also funded through the Services for Elderly iFund were annual grants to more than 60 churches and mobile meals providers.

The iFund Committee is listed on page 57.

Trustee Scholarship Initiative

Through the Trustee Scholarship Initiative, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation provides scholarship support, educational resources and training programs all designed to encourage students in central Oklahoma to further their education after high school. Since its establishment in 1998, the Initiative has awarded nearly $5 million in scholarship funds to nearly 4,500 students through the programs listed below:

Community Foundation Scholars

The Community Foundation Scholars program rewards good students who are also good citizens. Within this program, recipients include students who might not otherwise qualify for awards based solely on academic standards and students who will be the first in their family to attend college. In Fiscal Year 2014, a total of 141 Community Foundation Scholars each received a $1,500 award.

Central Oklahoma Guidance Counselor Network

Guidance counselors at 51 public and private high schools in central Oklahoma have access to training and support through the Central Oklahoma Guidance Counselor Network. An important element of the Trustee Scholarship Initiative, the network provides counselors with the opportunity to learn about current college admission and financial aid issues through two annual continuing education workshops. In addition, we arrange for the counselors to visit universities, colleges and technology centers in Oklahoma and surrounding states. Each year, at least one Community Foundation Scholar award is presented to each of the high schools whose guidance counselor participated in the activities.

Oklahoma Youth With Promise Scholars

Students who graduate from high school while in Oklahoma's foster care system are eligible to receive scholarships through the Oklahoma Youth With Promise Scholars program. During Fiscal Year 2014, 48 students were awarded scholarships through this program.

Non-Traditional Scholars

In partnership with several state agencies and nonprofit organizations, the Non-Traditional Scholars program assists adults who are re-entering the educational system and provides mentoring support as the students work toward their educational goals.

Nurse Education Program

In an attempt to address the shortage of qualified staff at nonprofit hospitals in Oklahoma City, the Nurse Education Program offers scholarships to nurses who are employed at any of five participating hospitals and are seeking an associate's or bachelor's degree in nursing. The program also awards scholarships to nurses currently employed at an Oklahoma public school who must earn a bachelor's degree in nursing within the first 10 years of employment. In Fiscal Year 2014, 21 nurses received scholarships.

Finish My Degree OKC

Adults who have some college credits and are seeking to complete their college degree can find information from more than 20 metro area institutions offering degree completion programs at FinishMyDegreeOKC.org. The program is part of a larger effort by Oklahoma City and 56 other U.S. metropolitan areas to increase the number of post-secondary degrees awarded in their community.

Program officer Brian Dougherty, president Nancy B. Anthony and Todd Jensen, director of Moore Parks and Recreation Department, participated in a ceremonial planting of the 100th tree in the Moore Little River Park. The Margaret Annis Boys Trust awarded a $75,000 grant to the City of Moore to plant 300 trees in the public park that was heavily damaged by a tornado in May 2013.

Margaret Annis Boys Trust and Parks & Public Spaces Initiative

During Fiscal Year 2014, the Margaret Annis Boys Trust continued to support grants that beautify public land, with an emphasis on projects located in public parks. The largest grant assisted in restoring Moore's Little River Park, a public park that was devastated by the May 20, 2013 tornado and subsequent flooding. A $75,000 grant was awarded to the Moore Parks and Recreation Department and added 300 new trees to the public park that is located near Plaza Towers Elementary School. The variety of trees planted average in height from eight to 10 feet and include Bald Cypress, White Oak, Kentucky Coffeetree, Cedar Elm, Shantung Maple, Chinquapin Oak, Sawtooth Oak, Shumard Oak, Hackberry and Crapemyrtle.

"When we realized the devastation left behind in Little River Park, we knew we could help the City of Moore rebuild this important neighborhood park," says Nancy B. Anthony, president. "Miss Boys worked as an elementary school teacher and principal and it seems fitting that a grant from her endowment fund is helping to restore a public park that serves the Plaza Towers Elementary School neighborhood."

One of the first organizations wishing to help rebuild Little River Park was the Oklahoma City Community Foundation," says Todd Jensen, director of the Moore Parks and Recreation Department. "We are so grateful for the generous grant."

Program officer Brian Dougherty worked closely with the Moore Parks staff to help develop a plan for the park's restoration.

Parks & Public Space Initiative Oklahoma City Parks Master Plan

In January 2014, the Oklahoma City Council accepted the Oklahoma City Parks Master Plan, culminating a two-year effort by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation and the Oklahoma City Planning Department. The study, developed with national consulting firm Wallace Roberts and Todd, provides a long-term plan for the funding, maintenance and improvement of Oklahoma City's current public parks. To review the plan, visit www.occf.org/OKCParksPlan.

Parks & Public Space Initiative Shifts Focus in 2014

With the completion of the Parks Master Plan, the Parks & Public Space Initiative will now be focused on three elements:

- Developing a model parks program to support the development of existing parks to meet the health and recreational needs of citizens. Staff will work to identify neighborhood and community public parks or public spaces. Once identified, we will assist with planning, program development and encourage public/private partnerships with the goal of encouraging the use of public parks for recreation, health and wellness activities.
- Initiate a Parks Foundation that benefits existing public parks by building a stakeholder group that can advocate for the care, maintenance and use of public parks in Oklahoma County.
- Encourage advocacy of Parks Master Plan to build awareness of the parks opportunities in the Oklahoma City metro area. Emphasize the advantages for both wellness and economic development to upgrade and enhance all public parks, trails and other public recreational facilities.

See grants awarded in Fiscal Year 2014 on page 54.

The Margaret Annis Boys Trust and Parks & Public Spaces Initiative Committees are listed on page 57.

Wellness Initiative

The Wellness Initiative is a new Community Program focus area launched in the spring of 2014. The initiative is designed to promote the integration of physical activity, good nutrition and other healthy lifestyle choices into the daily routines of children and adults living in Oklahoma County. Through a grants program, the Wellness Initiative will work with organizations in developing innovative, community-based programs that motivate people of all ages to engage in a sustainable program of daily exercise, healthy eating and other wellness activities. The first set of grants will be awarded in December 2014.

Wellness Initiative Goals & Objectives:

- Raise the awareness in the community of the benefits of exercise and good nutrition to create a culture of overall community wellness.
- Improve the infrastructure in the community to make it easy and fun for all central Oklahomans to take part in a simple and sustainable regimen of daily exercise, of choosing healthy food options and of developing a healthy lifestyle.
- Increase the availability and awareness of parks and public space facilities and grounds for programs that encourage individuals to participate in daily exercise.
- Include physical activity, nutrition and basic health education as part of the school curriculum for all students.
- Provide both school and non-school based opportunities for children and teenagers to learn and practice healthy lifestyle habits.

Priority will be given to the following:

- Programs that engage people of all ages who are physically inactive to begin a simple exercise occurring no less than three times per week.
- Programs that make efforts to develop partnerships and collaborations among neighborhoods, civic and nonprofit organizations and the business community to create a community-based wellness movement.
- Programs that are intergenerational or mentorship programs that bring together adults, children, youth and seniors to achieve physical health, nutrition and wellness goals.

Promoting 5210

The Wellness Initiative is partnering with the YMCA of Greater Oklahoma City to promote the OK 5210 plan that focuses on these daily numbers to live by: 5 or more fruits and vegetables, 2 hours or less of recreational screen time, 1 hour of physical activity and 0 sugar sweetened beverages.

The OK 5210 plan is based upon Maine's very successful Let's Go 5210, a childhood obesity prevention program started in 2006. To date, the Maine program has reached 320,000 children in more than 1,000 sites. A five-year evaluation of the program was conducted in 2011 and showed a downward trend in the percentage of adolescents who were obese. All Wellness Initiative numbers to live by grantees will be required to incorporate the OK 5210 message in all programs and activities.

"By partnering with the YMCA and other organizations in bringing the OK 5210 message to our community, we hope to encourage all central Oklahomans to live a healthy lifestyle," says Sally Ray, program officer. "Through the Wellness Initiative, we want to make healthy choices easy, available and fun for the community."

The Wellness Initiative Committee is listed on page 57.

An Opportunities for Children iFund grant assisted the Girl Scouts – Western Oklahoma with introducing STEM programs at three Oklahoma City elementary schools. STEM stands for science, technology, engineering and mathematics. STEM helps students develop critical thinking, problem-solving and collaboration skills that are useful in all careers and life pursuits. Research shows that when girls enter kindergarten, they are just as interested in math and science as boys but by the sixth grade, that interest begins to taper significantly. The STEM program seeks to show girls that science is fun and hands-on with real world applications. The girls shown above are Daisy Girl Scouts (grades K-1) and are following a STEM booklet on how to build a motorized car out of Legos.

Note: Gift and grant amounts include interfund gifts and grants that are excluded from audit and financial summary amounts.

Administrative Expenses

Economies of scale and a close watch on the budget enable the Oklahoma City Community Foundation to operate at an extremely low cost. We attempt to balance the level of services provided with a cost conscious approach and are pleased to report that administrative expenses over the last five years have averaged just under 40 basis points (40/100 of 1 percent).

Investment Management Costs

The low cost and efficient operation of our investment program benefits all endowments. We accomplish this by using active managers and index funds in a way that maximizes the opportunity for adding value but keeps the costs low. For Fiscal Year 2014, our cost of investments was 33 basis points (33/100 of 1 percent) compared to more than 100 basis points for the average mutual fund or active equity fund manager who requires a large minimum account.

Summary of Our Spending Policy

Since 1989, the Oklahoma City Community Foundation has employed a spending policy that is designed to permit funds to capitalize on good investment years as well as protect in the event of a low or negative return market. The economic volatility we experienced several years ago, where returns were on both extremes of investment performance, supports the wisdom of a spending policy that stabilizes the effects of market conditions on annual distribution from an endowment.

Annual distributions from the majority of permanent endowment funds administered by the Oklahoma City Community Foundation are based on a spending policy that distributes 5 percent of the fund's average market value for the previous 12 quarters as of March 31. The remaining investment return remains in the fund to add to the value, thus building the fund value and protecting the future distribution stream from inflation. The annual distribution from the fund is more predictable because the amount is not tied to current income that fluctuates due to shifts in market conditions. Instead, the annual distribution is based on a rolling quarter average of the fund's market value. Initially, the number of quarters used was eight but was changed to 12 quarters in 2011 to further stabilize the flow from stock market fluctuations.

Our Investment Process

The Investment Committee includes both current Trustees and other community leaders who are highly knowledgeable about investment decisions. The committee uses a style-based investor management system and allocates assets to specific investment styles. The committee is responsible for hiring the investment managers to manage a particular style. In Fiscal Year 2014, we used seven active managers – five for equities and two for fixed income investments. Approximately 50 percent of the pooled investments are actively managed. Investment counsel is provided by United Capital Financial Advisors LLC, a Chicago-based firm.
