

Jack Canine
Photo by Brandon Snider

My passion is to help establish and fund a museum, which will allow people of all ages and cultural backgrounds to see and develop an appreciation for our national instrument, the banjo.

Banjo enthusiast Jack Canine was instrumental in founding the American Banjo Museum, located in Oklahoma City's Bricktown. In addition to his donation of more than 60 ornately decorated banjos, he also ensured the museum's future by establishing a $5 million permanent endowment at the Oklahoma City Community Foundation. Thanks to his support, the museum will continue to share the history of the American banjo with future generations.

